Rebel Soldier Buried In Milam Grave

By The Herald Staff

The legend of Manse Jolly, terrorizer of Civil War Union occupation troops, came to life after 40 years of slumber.

Finding his gravestone marker ended a brief search for his Milam County burial place last week.

The Little River Cemetery is Jolly's resting place. A simple marker describes the legendary Rebel's memorial: "Sacred in the memory of MANSON S. JOLLY, aged 29 years. A small footstone bearing his initials marks the end of the grave.

A South Carolinian's interest in obtaining photos of the gravesite started The Herald looking. And the legend, written up in McClure's Magazine in the 1920's and the book, "A Maid of the Foothills", circa 1900, came back to life.

Louie Butts, retired Maysfield resident, took Herald staffers to the gravesite and told some of the exploits about Jolly told to him by his father, now deceased. Butts confirmed that Jolly died of drowning while attempting to cross a swollen Walkers Creek July 8, 1869.

It was an ironic death for a man who shot his way out of Anderson, S. C., 95 years ago. There was a Union price on his head.

He came to Texas in 1866, accompanied by five other men. He settled in North Milam County, married and was building a small frame house at the time of his death.

According to an article in the Anderson, S. C. newspaper, Jolly never surrendered when the Confederacy collapsed in 1864, but returned to Anderson to settle down to farm. "After his mother and sisters were abused by Federal troops, he became head of a small band of guerillas dedicated to giving the occupational troops a hard time." the article said.

For two years the band raised havoc with Union troops and the Anderson paper noted by oldtimers calculations that Jolly likely kept an oath to kill five Yankees for every one of five brothers killed in Civil War fighting. A sixth brother committed suicide later in Hart County, Ga.

The Jolly home in Anderson is being restored by Dave Watson, retired professor at Clemson College.

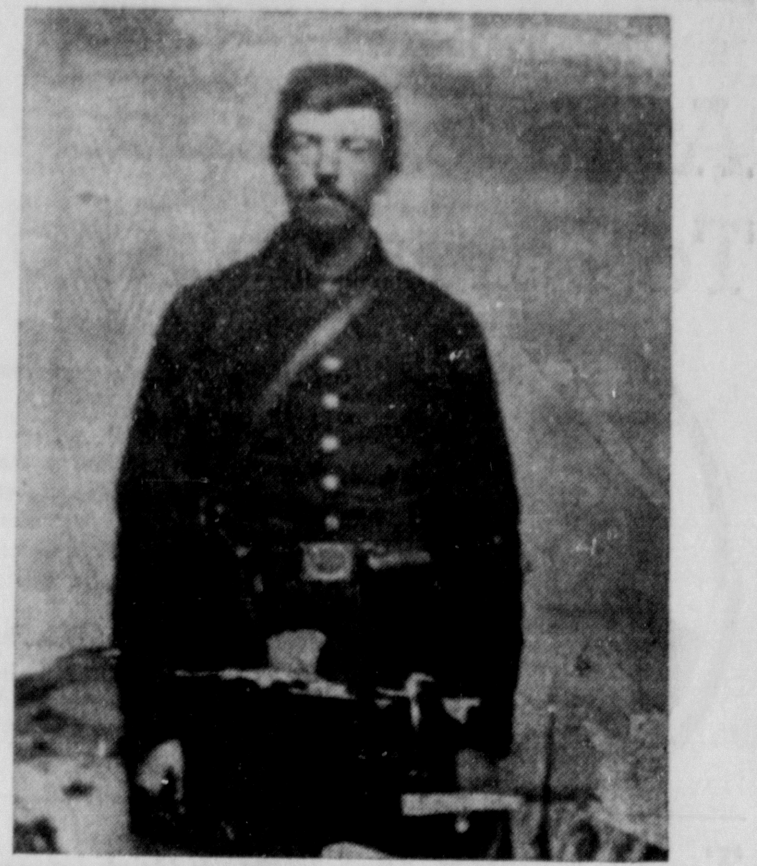
Jolly's exploits were legendary. Listen to the Anderson newspaper's description of his last famous ride out of South Carolina:

"Jolly was the most wanted man in Western South Carolina. The United States Army not only put a price on his head, but often sent out detachments with instructions to bring him in dead or alive. After experiencing innumerable narrow escapes and killing off his quota of blue coats, Jolly decided his luck could not hold out forever and gave in to pleas of his friends to get going while he was still alive.

"But Jolly was not the sort to slip quietly away under cover of darkness. He left in broad daylight —and now! Mounted on his horse Dixie, Jolly rode boldly into Anderson that January morning 95 years ago. His target was the encampment of the Yankee occupational troops on Fant Street . . .

"At the Intersection of South Fant and East River Sts., Jolly paused briefly, pointed Dixie north on Fant and applied the spurs. Through the Yankee camp he dashed, blazing away with a six shooter in each hand. Taken by surprise, the troops panicked. They thought Jolly was in the vanguard of a band of raiders, not just a one man show."

That was the rebel, Manson Sherrill Jolly, buried in Milam County.



LEGEND ENDS HERE — Here is a Civil War picture of Manse Jolly, subject of abook and magazine stories years ago. It was furnished by Grady Allen, historian of Masonic orders in Milam County.

IDENTIFIES MARKERS — Louie Butts, of Maysfield, stands beside the headstone marking the grave of Manson Sherrill Jolly, legendary Rebel soldier buried in Little River Cemetery. He directed Herald staffers to the gravesite after reading a story in the March 2 issue. Six persons cited the location of the grave. —Staffoto

April Elections

School, City Posts Draw No Contests

Three elections - schools, city, state — in April will draw voters to the polls in Cameron and Milam County.

In Cameron, city and school board elections will go uncontested.

Incumbent Councilmen Richard W. Moseley, Edwin L. Wied and John A. Smith will be on the April 4 City ballot for re-election, Moseley for his third two-year term and Wied and Smith both for their first full two-year terms. No new candidiates filed for a Council post by the deadline Saturday. They are running for Places No. 3, 4 and 5 respectively.

Two incumbent school board members filed for re-election while Dr. Robert Tumlinson filed for election April 1. E. Max Howard, present board president, did not seek re-election. Incumbents Dr. Gus Evans, Jr., and Dr. S. H. Richardson filed for re-election. Dr. Richardson is completing his first year on the board after appointment last spring.

Other school board elections will be held April 1 in Milano, Buckholts, Sharp, Rockdale, Thorndale and other smaller dependent school districts.

On the state level, 72 candidates for U. S. Senate have broken all previous records. Strong contenders lead the group, but the record number likely will force a runoff race following the April 4 encounter. Sen. William Blakely, State Atty-Gen. Will Wilson, Cong. Jim Wright, Republican John Tower, and others are campaigning strongly for the election to fill the vacancy left by Sen. Lyndon Johnson's resignation.

The County Commissioners Court has appointed presiding judges and judges for the April 4 special election to serve at 39 traditional precincts.

Presiding judges and precincts are: Pct. 1, Dan Gunn; Pct. 2, F. B. Durnie; Absentee, Mrs. R. W. Bennett; Pct. 3, Mrs. Lola Mae Davis; Pct. 4, Louis Faichtinger, Pct. 5, H. J. Schattle; Pct. 6, J. W. Hickman; Pct. 7, Carlton Crook Pct. 8, Mrs. Richard Ellison; Pct. 9, Branchville, Alice H. Cole; Pct. 10, Mrs. John Matyastik; Pct. 11, Henry Anthis; Pct. 12, G. R. Varner; Pct. 13, Mrs. R. T. Shafer; Pct. 14, Charles McDermott; Pct. 15, Willard Marshall; Pct. 16, Mrs. W. C. Marrs; Pct. 17, Mrs. W. C. Marrs, Pct. 18, Mrs. Verdi Coward; Pct. 19, Mrs. C. W.

Colonel's Letter Confirms Meeting

The Fort Worth District commander of the U. S. Corps of Engineers has confirmed he will meet with a group of bottomland farmers representing property owners along Little River.

Colonel West replied to a letter from County Judge Don G. Humble, saying he would be happy to meet in March with a group representative of Little River farmers so he could hear individual opinions on damages and needs along Little River.

He told Judge Humble that he believed he had some workable solutions to bottomland problems arising from overflow waters from Little River and Belton Reservoir

His confirmation of a March meeting in Cameron followed a resolution to federal and executive leaders from the County Commissioners Court, asking for assistance in controlling overflow water from Belton Reservoir.

Two weeks ago Congressman W. R. Poage and Corps of Engineers officials acknowledged the continuing problem of Little River overflow. Engineers have been conducting surveys for channel rectification.

300 Area Scouts To Host Scout-O-Rama Crowd

Spectacular Set For Saturday In Cameron Armory

About 300 Explorer, Boy and Cub Scouts will hold the Tejas District's big Scout-O-Rama Saturday for an expected crowd of over a thousand at Cameron's National Guard Armory.

The huge Scouting festival will last three hours starting at 6 p. m. Saturday, according to the Rev. Alfred Kallus, general chairman of the Scout-O-Rama. It is the second District showing in Cameron in three years.

The Oglewannagi Indian dancers will perform at the Scouting extravaganza, bringing with them beautiful costumes and authentic Indian dances.

Boy Scouts and Explorers from Trinisota District, the Oglewannagi dancers have performed at the State Indian Festival, the Heart O' Texas Fair and several Indian pow wows, participation chairman John Henderson reported.

Scout packs and troops from Cameron, Marlin, Rockdale, Chilton, Lott, Rosebud, Milano, Gause, Thorndale and Buckholts will participate in the Scouting spectacular.

Rev. Kallus said the Scout - O-Rama is a county fair type show, in which people will walk about viewing the numerous demonstrations and exhibits of the 300 Tejas Scouters.

A court of Honor will be held during the program to present Boy Scouts with badges of rank.

Judge W. A. Wallace, district camping and activities chairman, said proceeds after expenses from the show will be used for mainten-

Library Planners Elect Officers

The leadership and first two committees of the Cameron Library Planning Board have been announced.

About 75 of the 90-member Library Planning Board Monday night unanimously elected E. A. Perrin, Cameron businessman and civic leader, chairman of the Planning Board.

And Hinton Pruett, former Milam County School superintendent, was elected vice-chairman. Mrs. K. K. Robbins, of Cameron, also a former county school superintendent and businesswoman, was elected secretary of the group. Both were elected by acclamation.

The election at First Methodist Fellowship Hall followed a talk by J. R. Barkley, Taylor attorney, who explained the success story that Williamson County city wrote in building a new library last year.

Perrin assumed the chairmanship after Dr. George Bowman, Cameron Library Board president and acting moderator for the group concluded the hour-long organization session.

Perrin then announced appointments to a building committee which will plan recommendations for a new library structure and present them to the 90-member Planning Group.

Tuesday, Perrin announced membership of a public relations committee.

Members of the Board building committee are: Chairman Hilliard Thomas, Miss Mildred Thornton, Milton Schiller, Dr. Earl Knebel, Richard Williams, Mrs. James Brock and Miss Louise Jamison.

Public relations committeemen are: Chairman Dr. George Bowman, Charles Brady, Sr., J. R. Young, John Henderson, Jr., and Frank Luecke, Mrs. Carroll Green and Mrs. Alton Fuchs.

Perrin urged that the major committee of about 90 members, representing every civic fraternal and business organization in Cameron and 12 churches, continue to function as a group for assurance of the project's success.

Barkley keynoted the meeting with an explanation of Taylor's success in building a new $50,000 library last year without any tax-dollar investment.

Dr. Bowman conducted election procedure and introduced Barkley. The Rev. Eugene Strickland, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and a member of the Planning group, gave the invocation.

Postoffice To Get New Entranceway

Postmaster John Hays this week announced that the Cameron Postoffice entranceway will be remodeled.

A contract price of $1,000 was set by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., of Waco, for the remodeling job, Hays said.

It was the third in a continuation of remodeling projects on the postoffice begun in 1957.

C of C SPEAKER — Ed Clark, Austin attorney and banker, is the main speaker at the Cameron Chamber of Commerce Thursday, March 16. New officers and directors will be installed and the McCullin Citizenship cup will be awarded. A special Chamber directors meeting will be held March 17 instead of the usual meeting date, Chamber officials added.

Council To Check On Lift Station

The City Council Tuesday voted to ask a Waco engineering firm to figure costs on a sewerage lift station in Northwest Cameron.

And City Councilmen approved expenditures for materials to improve a Scout and Civic club house in Cameron's Negro Park and lights for the baseball diamond.

The Council also noted that plumbers, electricians and utility servicemen doing work in downtown meter areas may get cards from City Hall to allow parking on meters during the duration of any work in the downtown area.

Officials said they would be required to pay the meters for the first two hours, but could get the passes if jobs took longer than that.

Engineering estimates were sought to determine the cost of a lift station to give sewerage service to residents in the northwest part of the city. Estimates had been made on the project several years ago.

Cameron Lions Plan Minstrel In April; Practice Underway

The Cameron Lions Club is planning a second annual minstrel for two night showings in April.

Richard Williams, chairman of the program, said that endman practice will begin this week. The minstrel chorus has already begun to practice.

Mrs. B. F. Crockett is in charge of the choral group and music for the program.

The minstrel will be held 7:30 p.m. both April 14 and 15 at Yoe High School Auditorium. Proceeds will go to the Lions Crippled Children's Camp and local civic projects.

Crowds See Science Fair

Two hundred Yoe High School amateur scientists exhibited entries in Technical and Research fields Tuesday evening in the school's gymnasium, scene of the 1961 Science and Mathematics fair.

The annual fair drew a large crowd to view the 136 entries which competed for 25 certificate and cash awards.

First place in the technical division was awarded to Janice Simecik for her exhibit of the human body. First place in the same division but under the Math qualification was Lanelle Russell and Annette Dodd for their uses of geometric knowledge in finding designs and angles. Technical division winner in the science department was Sam Lawhon for his Electrostatic Generator; last year Sam won first place, technical division in Austin's district fair.

The Research division which drew fewer entries was also divided into three divisions.

Biological Science winner was Mary Lucy Barcenus with her exhibit of How to Grow Bacteria. Gwen Zawadzke was Physical science winner with her exhibit of anti-acids and stomach remedies.

First place in the math catogory was won by Margaret Nance. Second place went to Helen Reid and third to Johnny Springer.

The 7th and 8th grade science division was won by Judson Smith for his "Work of Atomic Energy".

Mrs. Herbert Nance, director of the fair, and Yoe High Science teacher told the Herald she believed the fair was the best ever and complimented all the entries and the entire science staff of Ada Henderson and Yoe High.

First place winners will compete in the State wide fair in Austin Friday in order to qualify for national honors.

Judges for the event were Dr. David Shapiro, Physician; Dr. Lyle McDermott, Veterinarian; Mr. John Fussell, Engineer; Mr. Bob Wolf, Industrial Engineer; Mr. Thomas Hickerson, Science teacher; and Mr. Leo Kahler Jr., mathematics teacher.

Here is an individual rundown of all science fair winners and honorable mentions: — 7th and 8th grade science — 1st place, Judson Smith; 2nd place, Eddy Huntsman and Mike Anderson; 3rd place, George Bowman; 4th place Mary Beth Nance; 5th place, Cliff Evans.

Honorable mention - Suzzanne Edmonds and Sherri Lynn Kubes; Glenn Hughes and W. K. Graham; and Mark Humble.

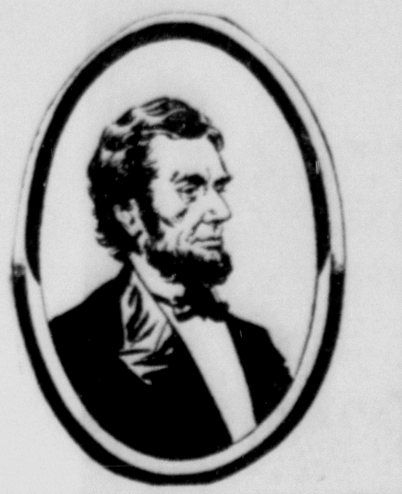
Abraham Lincolns Speech Designed To Threaten And Soothe The South



By Robert Stonedale

Cameron Herald Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Abraham Lincoln of Illinois was inaugrated 16th president of the United States yesterday afternoon under skies as dark and cold as the general gloom now oppressing the American spirit.

The new president preceded the inaugural ceremony with a long address; a mouthpiece of equivocation designed to offer enough insult and threat to the South to placate his Northern supporters, but not so much as to provoke immediate conflect.

Large numbers of regular army troops were moved to Washington following Lincoln-s secret arrival here last week, and the abolitionist leader now enjoys the distinction of being the first president of the United States ever borne to his high office surrounded by a pale of glistening bayonets.

Shortly after noon yesterday, President Buchanan and the president-elect rode in an open carriage from Willard's Hotel to the Capitol building accompanied by a motley parade of congressman, governors, soldiers and citizens.

The procession moved through a cordon of guns and sabers. Hundreds of riflemen had been placed on the roofs of houses facing Pennsylvania Ave. and calvery men closed off the side streets approaching the parade route as the presidental carriage moved up the main avenue to the Capitol.

Riflemen stationed in the wings of the building covered the platform erected in front of the east portico. On top of a nearby hill, General Winfield Scott stood by a battery of guns charged to the muzzles with grape and canister.

The persident-elect was escorted to the platform where a crowd of ten thousand waited. He showed obvious signs of strain from the turmoil and threats against his lift that accompanied his journey here from his prairie home.

Wearing a tall silk hat and looking more like a country politician than the highest officer of the Northern Republic, Lincoln nonetheless acquitted himself well during the ceremonies. He has recently cultivated a sparse beard, apparently in the attempt to lend more dignity to his homespun features, and in appearance and manner he conveys an attitude of humility and good humor, combined with an expression of sadness that indicates he is aware of the price the country is paying for his accidental election.

After being introduced, Lincoln drew his inaugural address from an inside coat pocket, donned spectacles and spoke with marked orathorial ability. The language of the address was neither poetic nor inspiring, but matter-of-fact. In it he made an attempt to placate the fears of the South.

I have no purpose directly or indirectly to interfere with the institutiou of slavery in the states where it exists. I beliveve I have no lawful right to do so, and I have no inclination to do so."

"The rights of the States to order and control their own domestic institutions, according to their own judgement exclusively, is essential to the balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends."

A few minutes later, moderation was cast aside and he took an opposite tack.

"The power confined to the government." he said. He then threatened to enforce the Yankee laws in every section of the country.

After wandering between these extremes, he concluded with an emotional and patriotic appeal to the peoples of North and South alike.

"We are not enemies, but friends," Lincoln said with apparent sincerity. "We must not be enemies. Through passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of momery stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and heartstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the course of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of onr nature." The applause following the address was prolonged although not intense.

Several local political figures hold that the new President's address assumes despotic authority and threatens war and bloodshed. Senator Douglas, however, characterizes it as a peace offering rather than a war message.

Virginia observers, including ex-president Tyler, state that Mr. Lincoln has thrust Virginia into the Confederacy by his remarks, contending that the Old Dominion will never permit the use of force against the lawful constituted Confederate States government.

Confededate representatives here have notified Montgomery that Mr. Lincoln's obvious purpose is to hold Fort Sumpter and Fort Pickens and to ignore the rigats, and indeed the very existance, of the Confederacy.

Senator Louis Winfall of Texas leaned against the Capitol doorway during the inaugural wearing a smile of amused contempt.

"The Old Union is a corpse," he told reporters later, "The only remaining question is how to embalm it and conduct the funeral decently!"

Texas Power & Light Co. Plans Super Electric Transmission Line

Texas Power & Light Company and three other major investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas announced plans Wednesday for the construction of super electric transmission lines extending from the Red River to Houston and west to the Permian Basin oilfields of West Texas.

The line will firmly link together 6,500,000 kilowatts of electric generating capability of the four companies into one of the nation's largest and strongest reservoirs of power.

The three other companies, which along with TP&L have a total of 27 steam - electric generating plants, are Texas Electric Service Company, Dallas Power & Light Company and Houston Lighting and Power Company, W. W. Lynch, president of TP&L said.

The four companies jointly will construct the backbone 345,000 volt transmission line which will extend from Houston to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, at an estimated cost of $25,000,000. Construction on this unit will begin promptly, and will be completed as soon as possible. Texas Power & Light Company will extend the super transmission line north from the Dallas - Fort Worth area to a new generating station TP&L is now constructing at a point just south of the Red River and Texas Electric Service Company will construct an extension of the super line into West Texas. The entire line will be some 800 miles in length.

The new transmission line will benefit electric service users throughout a major portion of Texas, Lynch said. He added, enginering studies and planning for the line have been under way for more than three years.

The executive said the new system also will make additional power availabl eto meet the future power requirements of a number of REA Cooperatives which purchase electric power at wholesale from TP&L. He added that the Lower Colorado River Authority, the Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. and the Southwestern Power Administration will also be benefited since TP&L and the three organizations have interconnected power systems.

The 342,000 volt "power highway" will be six times greater in electric power capacity than any other one now in operation in the Southwest and will be one of the largest in the United States.

Greater security of electric service throughout the areas served by the four companies will result from construction of the super "power highway," Lynch said, since generating capacity available in one area can be transmitted to other areas in the event of an emergency.

EVERYTHING IS Flameless

LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

A flameless, all-electric kitchen means better living in so many ways. An electric refrigerator and food freezer provide storage space for a wide selection of foods bought in season when prices are low. An electric range assures exact cooking temperatures and a clean, cool kitchen. A whisper-quiet exhaust fan moves cooking odors outside and a garbage disposer and dishwasher help get clean-up chores done in a jiffy.

FHA Make Funds Available For Farmer's Credit

Additional funds have been made available to help meet the needs of eligible farmers who need operating money to carry out farming operations, William H. Gaston, of the Farmers Home Administration announced today.

Gaston said that a $35,000,000 contingency fund provided by the 1961 Agriculture Appropriations Act has been just released to the Farmers Home Administration to meet the growing demand for credit.

This move was taken by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Gaston said, in an effort to make certain, within the authorities and funds available, that no qualified family-type farmer will be required to give up farming because of his inability to finance his 1961 operations.

Because of high operating costs and unfavorable margins of profits many farmers have exhausted their regular source of farm operating credit. The amount of operating loans made so far this year by the Farmers Home Administration totals 20 percent higher than last year. The credit agency's biggest lending season lies just ahead as farmers prepare to start their spring work.

Most of the applications so far this year for loans to buy livestock, equipment and pay current operating expenses.

The Farmers Home Administration makes operating loans primarily to help eligible farm families make improved use of their land and labor resources on family-type farms and make needed changes in their farming systems. Most of the changes call for adopting better farming practices and improving the efficiency of their farming operations. Loans may also be made to qualified farmers who carry on smaller than family-type operations.

Operating Loans help farmers pay for equipment, livestock, feed seed and fertilizer, tractor fuel and other farm and home operating needs including the refinancing of chattel debts. Loans at 5 percent scheduled for repayment in accordance with the borrower's ability to repay, over periods up to seven years.

Further information may be obtained from the FHA County Office located at the Henderson Building, 120 E. 1st Street, Cameron.

A soil test will help take the guesswork out of buying and applying fertilizers .Don't guess, soil test.

Texas A&M To Sponsor Career Day March 18

COLLEGE STATION — The 13th Annual High School Career Day will be held on the campus of Texas A & M College, March 18. The event enables high school juniors and seniors who plan to attend college the opportunity to get a preview of campus life.

The all-day program features inspection of the A&M College facilities, personal career counseling with faculty, and the degree programs offered at Texas A & M.

After morning registration in the Memorial Student Center, students participating will attend an orientation assembly at 10 a. m. in Guion Hall. Dean Frank W. R. Hubert, school of Arts and Sciences, will extend the official welcome on behalf of the College. Also on the porgram are: Student Senate President, Roland Dommert of Cowley , La., ROTC Cadet Corps Commander Syd Heaton of Tyler and Corps Chaplain Robert Laird of Dayton.

Following lunch in the College dining halls at noon, tours of College facilities by groups arranged according to field of interest will be conducted between 1:30 p. m. and 4 p. m. Groups will be divided according to A&M College's four schools of instruction — Engineering, Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, and Veterinary Medicine. During the tours high school students will have opportunity to discuss their individual careers with faculty and staff of the College.

It's Best To Know What's In The Bag

COLLEGE STATION — Seed bargains, like other so-called bargains, can end up being very expensive. Farmers who buy untested or non-recommended varieties of seed may lose all or part of their investment in land, land preparation and fertilizer, warns R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist.

In the overall cost of producing a crop, seed is a minor item, whether it is the cheapest seed or the most expensive. There is no possibile way to justify the loss in yield and quality that results from using poor seed, when for only a few cents more per acre, good seed of known quality and performance, can be planted, says Hodges.

Will you look for a "bargain" or, more important, will you buy good quality seed. Before you answer, consider the time, labor and money you have invested in the preparation of your land. If you are going to plant poor seed, all of this other work and money may be wasted. Give your land a chance--plant only good quality seed.

Insect Control Couses Scheduled

An Insect Control Course for Adult farmers will be held March 13 thru March 17 under the sponsorship of the Cameron Yoe High School, Vocational Agriculture Department according to Dr. Earl Knebel Superintendent and C. Titsworth, teacher of Vocational agriculture.

H. A. TURNEY

H. A. Turney, Entomology specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Entomology at Texas A & M College, will be the instructor in the course. He is headquartered at Texas A & M College.

Turney holds a Master's Degree in Entomology. He worked three years with the Department of Entomology at the Univirsity of Arkansas in their cotton scouting program. He also worked two years as survey entomologist for the state of Texas in cooperation with the Texas Extension service.

"Many Insect Control short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Turney and all have proven to be very helpful in helping to solve farm insect problems.', according to Lester Buford, Area III Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, Houston, Texas. Arrangements for the adult short course are made through Lester Buford's office.

The short course at Cameron is scheduled to begin 7 p.m., March 13.

Other meets in this series will be held March 14, 15, 16, and 17. During the dates the short course is in progress Turney will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide "on-the-farm" instruction according to C. Titsworth.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the Superintendent of schools, Dr. Earl Knebel, or C. Tistworth. An entry fee of $2.00 will be charged. Insect Control short course certicicates are to be presented to each farmer who attends all the training sessions.

Turney states that these sessions will be adjusted to the problems that the farmers are faced with in their community. He will discuss these problems and the insect or insects that might be causing the damage, and insecticides needed to do the job. He will also discuss the timing and method of applying insecticides to get the best results. The course will be as practicable and simple as possible. Time will be allowed each meeting for any questions that may arise.

"Short courses in Insect Control as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers thorughout the state under the new cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A & M College.' stated E. V. Walton, head of the Department of Agriculture Education taTexas A & M who coordinates the program for Texas A & M College.

"This cooperative program,"states Walton, "is desinged to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people.

Specialist are now available in the fields of insect control, farm management from electrification, farm welding, tractor maintenance, beef production and swine production.

Chemicals Can Control Weeds In Winter Lawns

COLLEGE STATION — Having trouble with winter weeds in your lawn? They can be eliminated with chemicals, says George McBee, extension pasture specialist.

The chemicals should be applied when the weeds are growing and before seed are formed. To cortrol upright or semiprostrate annual weeds such as burclover, henbit and rescue grass, McBee says the chemicals should be applied when the plants are no more than three inches tall. If they are above this height he advises a close mowing and then waiting for three or four days of growth before making the application.

Low - growing plants such as carpet burweed should be treated when the plants are young and before they bloom. Thorough coverage of the leaves and stems with the chemicals is a must for all weed control.

McBee says the most commonly used chemicals are 2,4-D and endothal. Disodium methylarsonate and amine methlarsonate can be used for spot treatment. Naptha and ammonium nitrate are other chemicals often used. Lawn grasses will be killed by naptha but the spots should cover over in a few weeks.

The specialist warns that care should be exercised when using any chemical and that the manufacturer's recommendations should be followed closely. He suggests that you visit your local county agent or home demonstration agent and pick up a copy of L-425, "Chemical Weed Control in Lawns." Each of the recommended, chemicals along with spray or spot treatment solutions is discussed. The leaflet also contains other suggestions for lawn care and maintenance.

Planting seed bought at a bargain price can be very expensive. R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, advises farmers to buy the best seed available.

Fertilizers Do Affect Diseases In Cotton Field

COLLEGE STATION — Fertilizer nutrients, if properly applied in the correct amounts, will lower cotton disease losses, says Harlan E . Smith, extension plant pathologist. For example, slightly susceptible bacterial blight varieties become resistant with adequate nitorgen but more susceptible when nitrogen is deficient.

Adequate amounts of available potassium help prevent Fusarium wilt and Verticillum wilt. In contrast, excessive use of nitrogen should be avoided in Furarium wilt and Verticillium wilt soils. It is konwn that Verticillium wilt can cause more losses if available soil nitrogen is on the excess side.

Unbalanced availability of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash causes plants to be more susceptible to attack by disease organisms. Therefore, for disease control avoid creating unbalanced conditions when applying fertilizers, Smith warns. Unbalanced fertility created by improper application of fertilizer can lead to disease losses which will nullify fertilizer benefits.

Boll rots may be more severe when excess nitrogen causes tall, rank cotton. In 1960, wet weather in several areas was blamed for some losses in cotton quality and yield when boll rot diseases were actually the cause of the trouble.

It has been determined that cotton plants free of seedling disease and nematodes make much more effective use of fertilizer nutrints, Smith continues. This relationship should be taken into account when seedling diseases or nematodes are controlled with fungicides or nematocides. In general, high fertilizer rates should be lowered somewhat once seedling disease and nematodes are under-control.

A sound fertilizer program must be based on many factors, including cotton disease that are most likely to damage plants. You may have already fertillzed for this year, but you can plan improved use of fertilizer next year, Smith points out.

Check cotton fields for disease damage at regular intervals. You will find that certain diseases are damaging or killing your cotton plants. These same diseases will probably occur, more or less, next cotton diseases are prevented, not cured. Little can be done to control cotton diseases on the present crop after it is planted.

In order to plan the best preventive control program, it is necessary to know the disease that are likely to cause losses. It is also helpful to know where certain disease might occur in your fields. For example, root rot, root knot and other nematodes, bacterial blight, ascochyta blight and seedling disease can be reduced somewhat the following year by deep plowing during hot, dry weather.

Farm Records Show Income Difference For Similiar Farms

Farm records kept by farmers throughout the county show a variation of several thousand dollars in farm income on farms of the same size having the same labor and about the same capital investment. This can best be explained by good management.

One farmer produces 25 barrels of rice per acre while his neighbor produces only 17 barrels. One cotton farmer produces cotton of much better quality than another. One cattle man has a calving percentage of 90 per cent while another has only 75 per cent. The gap between the good farmer and the average farmer continues to widen as the cost - price squeeze grows tighter.

The top farmer usually is easy to identify. He keeps a good set of records and first tests a new practice with paper and pencil to determine if it has a chance of paying. He makes his labor count and gears the size of his operation as much as possible to reduce the per unit cost of machinery. In addition, he studies the market and does many other things which make him a better manger.

The successful farmer of tommorrow will have a large operation. The operation will be made of the most profitable combination of enterprises with each enterprise being manged with maximum efficiency. He will be using many farm economics ideas which are in the process of being developed or have been developed only recently. In other words, the emphasis will be on management -- the economics of farming.

County Agents Notes . . .

March Outlook, Market Data

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

Slaughter cattle - Increased marketing of fed cattle during the spring and early summer will reduce chances of a seasonal price rise. Considering the increased number of cattle placed on feed during the October - December quarter of 1960, "topping" out of fed cattle as soon as they will grade look s advisable.

Stocker & Feeder Cattle - The revised inventory estimates will have a favorable effect on stocker prices. It is not likely that this favorable effect will more than offset the effect of expected lower slaughter cattle prices this fall. As usual, light stocker cattle will be in strong demand this spring. Producers with stocker and feeder cattle for sale should take advantage of any price bulge. This is no time to be over - optimistic regarding cattle prices.

Hogs - If hogs were a profitable enterprise for an operator during 1960, they should continue profitable during 1961. Hog prices in Texas will reach above $20 this summer.

1961 Cattle Numbers 'a New High - On Jan. 1, 1961, cattle numbers in the U. S. were estimted at 97,139,000. This is an increase of one percent over the revised 1960 figure.

After all the dust has settled, the 1961 cattle inventory is some 6 to 8 million head below predicted figures for this date. A 100 million head cattle herd in the U. S. is still nearly 3 million head away. There is a strong possibility that the 100 million figure will not be reached during the present cattle cycle.

If all these changes and revisions are confusing to you, don't be dismayed. Consider the plight of the Agricultural Economist who is attempting to make reasonable price forecasts based partically on inventory information.

Certainly a 5 per cent reduction in the estimated U. S. cattle inventory is going to have an inpact on future cattle prices. U. S. Cattle prices are still determinded by supply and demand at the market place. This 5 per cent reduction in the estimated cattle herd will reduce the expected supply of beef for the future. Cattle prices may not be stimulated to the point of any increase, but the predicted price declines should be modified.

Texas Cattle Numbers Up — Total number of cattle and calves on Texas Farms and Ranches increased 3 percent during 1960. The Jan. 1, 1961, cattle inventory of 9.4 million head is the largest cattle population in Texas since 1891.

Milk cow numbers in Texas declined 6 per cent during 1960 while only a one percent decline was recorded for the U. S.

Beef cows in Texas increased 5 per cent during 1960 for a total beef cow herd of 4.4 million head on Jan. 1, 1961. Beef cows in the U. S. increased only 3 percent during 1960.

Farm Value of Texas Cattle Down 19 Per Head - With the farm value of Texas cattle down $9 per head from 1960, the total value of Texas cattle was 1.1 billion dollars on Jan $l, 1961. This is 50 million dollars less than the 1960 figure. The reduction in cattle value per head was only $3 for the U. S.

Hog Numbers Decline Seven Percent - The 7 per cent reduction in hog numbers in Texas was 1 per cent greater than the reduction for the U. S.

Improved hog prices resulted in $5.30 per head increase in Texas farm value of hogs. Total farm value of Texas hogs on Jan. 1, 1961 was 20.9 million dollrs.

Handy Refresher

On a hike, or sitting all day in a deer blind, you can keep up your energy by dissolving in your mouth now and then a pepper-upper made by mixing a teaspoon of instant coffee with a teaspoon of sugar.

Wrap these in twists of waxed paper or foil before leaving home, and carry a number of them in your hunting coat, or game bag.

Lloyd Bergsma To Speak At Meeting

Lloyd Bergsma, Livestock Marketing Specialist and Tom Prater, Farm Management Specialist, both of A & M College, will speak at a Livestock Meeting in Milam County March 23.

Bergsma will speak on Livestock Outlook and Prater on Costs involved In Beef Cattle Operation. The meeting will be held at the Auction Barn in Cameron, beginning at 7:30 p. m., and will be of interest to everyone connected with livestock.

The program is sponsored by the Milam County Farm Bureau, the Livestock Committee of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and the county Extension Livestock Committee.

WHY PAY RENT?

If you are getting tired of collecting rent receipts, let us show you this good two bedroom home that can be yours. A small down payment and monthly payments just like rent. Central heat eliminates bothersome space heaters. Beautiful shade trees. Many extras.

IF YOU HAD YOUR WISH...

for the ideal small farm ... with a good house ... and a fair tenant house ... and 2 good barns ... and 3 good tanks ... and 2 artesian wells ... then this is the 30 acre tract that you would buy. Also 150 tree fruit orchard. Oh yes, convenient financing by owner.

COMPACT RANCH....

This little 26 acre tract on the Cameron-Temple Highway will make an ideal building site. Priced just a little higher than a new Ford or Chevrolet. Owner will finance. $200 per acre.

STAR OF STARS ....

Perfect for retired couple or family that desires farm near Cameron. 58 acres with extra good home. Barn, chicken house, 2 tanks, good fencing. The kind of financing that you will like by owner. Will accept cash.

CROWD PLEASER....

This rich, fertile 36 acres makes the people applaud. Just a couple of miles from Cameron. A steal at $100 per acre.

BELOW MARKET PRICE...

Good stock farm North of Cameron. 145 acres with fair house and fair improvements —very good land. Priced at just $105 per acre.

WE NEED LISTINGS...

We urgently need two and three bedroom dwellings. We also need farm and ranch listings. Have cash buyers for equities in any type of real property.

TFWC Officers Attend

Delphian Club Hosts Texas Day Luncheon

Texas Federated Womens Clubs Capital District officers were the guests of the Delphian Club Tuesday for their annual Texas Day luncheon at the Texan Cafe.

Mrs. O. T. Collins of Waco, district president, was the guest speaker following the luncheon. Other district officers attending were Mrs. Reed Slay, vice president from Hillsboro and Mrs. Cecil Cabaness, vice president from Austin.

Following a welcome by Mrs. Frank Luecke, Delphian Club president, Mrs. Collins spoke to the group of 30 members and guests on womens need for Faith in the modern world. "The Texas Federation of Womens Clubs was started by one woman who had faith in the women of Texas and their desire to create better communities in which to live." She went on to say that womens need for a strong faith grows as the world becomes more hurried and unsettled.

She was introduced by Miss Mildred Thornton, vice president of the Delphian Club.

A memorial honoring Mrs. R. L. Batte Sr., first president of the Delphian Club, was given by Mrs. Howard Baskin. The memorial included the reading of one of the late Mrs. Battes poems "Tell Me Old House".

Redbud branches and ivy decorated the T shaped luncheon table in the Texans Western Room.

Mrs. H. L. Green Sr. and Mrs. Howard Baskin were in charge of luncheon arrangements. Mrs. Carroll Green and Mrs. Alvin Roberts created table decorations.

Mrs. Fischer Hosts TWU Alumnae For February Meeting

Mrs. Walter E. Fischer was hostess for the February meeting of the Milam County Chapter, Texas Woman's University Alumnae Association at her home in Rockdale February 28.

Mrs. Joyce Bayless, Rockdale Public School councelor, was guest speaker. She told of Rockdale's recent "College Day" and discussed informally what Milam County Alumnae could do to encourage more area students to enter TWU.

She pointed out that many students were unaware that TWU offered specialized schools, such as the School of Nursing and others. She suggested one effective way to interest students in a college was to take them to visit the campus.

Following a short business meeting the hostess served refreshments of pie and coffee to the 10 members present and guests.

The next meeting will be held in Cameron in May.

Mrs. Slama Hosts Buckholts Circle

The Dorcas Circle of the Buckholts Hope Lutheran Church held their second monthly meeting on March 1 at the home of Mrs. L. F. Slama with 6 members present.

The circle discussed "How Shall I Pray When I Have Sinned" and Response Bible Reading.

After a short business session, refreshments were served.

The first meeting in February, was held at the home of Mrs. Leo Fuchs, circle leader.

Plans Available For Farm Homes

By Frances H. Johnson
Milam Home Demonstration Agent

If you are planning to build or remodel this summer you will find plans in the revised extension bulletin, Farm & Ranch Homes In Texas, helpful in making final decisions. Careful, thoughtful planning often avoids mistakes which are costly from the standpoint of money as well as convenience.

The bulletin gives pointers in planning for present and future needs. It lists building material suitable for Texas farm and ranch homes and gives suggestions for planning wiring and other utility outlets.

Plans for two, three and four-bedroom homes are given in the bulletin. Also included are plans for expansible houses -- with living , dining, kitchen and bath areas incorporated in basic houses from 600 to 825 sq. ft. These can be expanded to completed houses from 1,032 to 1,628 sq. ft. as the family and income grows.

Copies of Farm & Ranch Homes In Texas are available at the county extension agent's office in Cameron.

Colors for Redecorating - If you are thinking of doing some painting, papering, or refurnishing this spring or summer, choose colors for a reason - to get the special effects that you may want and, at the same time, provide a comfortable, pleasant background for everyday living.

Begin by analyzing the room. Its use, shape and exposure will dominate. Proportions of 60 per cent of area for one color, 30 percent for a second color and 10 per cent for accent, insure good porportion.

When you place the colors in a room, choose the color for the largest areas first -- floor covering, walls and large upholstered pieces. In most cases, these should be your most livable colors, or colors that are greyed in intensity. Next, choose colors for small upholstery and the window treatment. This treatment may be a blend of the room colors, or match or contrast with the walls. Lastly, choose your colors for accessories and small areas -- pillows, lamps, ash trays, etc. Usually, this accent color is the brighest color. determine colors best suited. Decide how you want the room to look. Will it be light and gay restful or dramatic? Do you want it to be predominantly warm or cool?

Your RIGHT ☒ TO VOTE

MR. AND MRS. VOTER, do you feel that you should have an opportunity to vote on legalizing Parimutuel Horse Race Betting?

A constitutional amendment (H.J.R. #4) is being considered whereby Texans will be given an opportunity to legalize horse race betting in Dallas, Tarrant, Harris, Galveston, Bexar, Midland, Hidalgo, Cameron and Webb Counties, subject to approval by LOCAL OPTION.

H.J.R. #4 provides for distribution, ANNUALLY, among all counties that do not have race tracks, one-half of the STATE TAX REVENUE obtained from horse racing. Each county would receive approximately $1.00 per capita population the first year. Counties where the tracks are located would receive 2% of parimutuel handle. The state's tax Income from horse racing alone would run close to $12,000,000 the very first year—possibly more—besides all the income tourists would bring to Texas—which would amount to millions of dollars, plus a great ad valorem tax on race tracks, breeding farms and many valuable race horses.

Please express your opinion by checking ☒ the appropriate box below. You do not have to sign your name unless you like, but we would prefer it.

Dealing From Strength . . .

This city's surge toward a new library facility is part of the success story that Cameron continues to write in its ability to deal out of strength rather than weakness.

The location of the South Texas - Louisiana district warehouse for Glasspar Boat Co. is another.

Construction, always a visible sign of improvement, goes on all around the city.. in residence, in commercial areas, in institutional development.

We have named these many projects, but we have not so often mentioned why this Milam County seat is able to do these things.

First, there is a unity of understanding that Cameron, a city and seat of historic strength, is a center of commerce and finance and business leadership for many years. This means ability to meet our needs for growth.

Importantly, Cameron and Milam County residents are truly friendly people. We quote Willis White, new manager of Glasspar Boat Co. warehouse here: "I found Cameron people friendlier than any folks I've known anywhere. And being an A&M man where we learn the importance of speaking to people, I can assure you that Aggies are impressed when everyone they speak to speaks back . . . with friendliness. And Cameron folks do."

Until White had lived here a few weeks, he was unknown to Cameron. And yet he noticed the value that Cameron and Milam County people place on being nice to people.

This is an advantage that we can cultivate to even greater strength. If you wish to test its value, walk down the street of any city anywhere over 10,000 and see if people speak to you when you address them. As White told Cameron Rotarians last week, often they look at you as if you were detached from reality . . . and a modern world.

Well Cameron is in a modern world and is still willing to say "howdy" to strangers. And Cameron is growing because some of those "strangers." we speak to won't be strangers long. They'll want to come to Cameron and bring their industrial development and ideas with them. They'll investigate a town that does things like building its institutions and homes and attracting people with an old-fashioned vim and vigor and friendliness.

Yes, Cameron and Milam County deal out of strength, not from weakness. Panic and panacea have no place in a hard-driving community which still presents one of the best balanced social and economic platforms in Central Texas.

And as things continue to happen in Cameron, things that hard work and friendliness and know how make happen, remember, won't you: these are the strengths that attract and lead others.

Interest In History High . . .

Your newspaper appreciates the enthusiastic response on publishing a request for information on the gravesite of the Rebel soldier Manson Sherill Jolly.

By noon last Thursday, The Herald received five phone calls on the exact location of Jolly's grave and a picture of the legendary Rebel from South Carolina.

It seems he was one of the toughest of South Carolina Confederate soldiers in a day of total conflict between North and South.

Jolly's grave is located in Little River Cemetery. He died at the age of 29 by drowning. He was attempting to cross a swollen Walker's Creek on horseback in the year of 1869 and did not make it. His tombstone is a Masonic marker bearing only his age and name.

Interest in the historic elements of Milam County is outstanding. Milam County has been highlighted in the Central Texas Museum at Salado and numerous newspaper stories and literary efforts have developed on persons who settled this area in the Civil War period.

It would be safe to predict that this traditional interest will lead to a Milam County Museum some day.

But interest in story of Manson Sherill Jolly is high at the moment. And this interest is helping to complete documentation of a famous name in South Carolina history. It will become part of a historic treatment and renovation of Jolly's home in Anderson, S. C., and his effects.

Fire Burns Communist Fringe . . .

It is interesting to hear condemnation of American free enterprise and government efforts to show evidence of Communist-inspired reaction t o the American way of life.

For example, there is the controversy centering on the movie, "Operation Abolition", which shows films of California college sudents raising havoc over a hearing held by the House Unamerican Activities Committee.

Americans are becoming aroused in their own interests, not only economic, but ethnically too, to combat the fire of communism with like fire.

Put your ear to the ground and you can hear the stamping of feet as Red dupes or at best idealists and known communists belittle efforts to label their activities.

It is necessary at times to use an explosive to put out a forest fire. And if blasts over infringements of so called "individual rights" rock the tainted and the Reds, "let her blow!"

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

The death a while back of Byron Utecht, dean of the Capitol press corps, calls to mind a little incident of many years ago when I was editor of the Ranger Times.

A campaign for governor was in progress and Byron was traveling with one of the candidates who was a good friend of his. The day before they were scheduled to be in Ranger, a state Senator made a speech on behalf of one of the others in the race. He was an able speaker and he gave all of his man's opponants a good working - over.

In a spirit of mischief -- I was young them -- I wrote in full what he said about Byron's friend and referred in a brief paragraph to the fact that the speaker had critized the others.

I knew Byron well and, soon after his arrival, called on him at the Gholson Hotel and handed him a copy of that afternoon's Times. When he read the article, he became excited and at once called it to his friend's attention -- as I figured he would. The candidate was furious and devoted almost all of his speech to the Senator and the Senator's candidate -- which gave me a good story for the next day's paper.

Only thing was, the situation nearly got out of hand. The more Byron's friend thought about it, the madder he got and Byron had all he could do to persuade him not to drive over to Mineral Wells (where the Senator was, on his speaking tour) and give him a licking.

When I used to see James E. Ferguson, in the twilight of his career, going through the lobby of the Driskill Hotel, speaking to a friend stopping to talk a minute with a group, the though came:

"There goes a legendary figure. Some day, people will say -- as people did about Sam Houston, Henry Clay and James G. Blaine after they had vanished from the stage -- 'So you saw Jim Ferguson? What did he look like?' "

He was close to six feet, rather large of build. His eyes were blue, his hair (once dark) was now gray. His complexion was ruddy. He usually wore a dark suit - although, as I remember, sometimes in summer he wore a linen suit and a panama hat. Usually however his hat was black felt, broad-brimmed, and he wore a black string tie and a white shirt. It was the traditional raiment of a statesman of the period when he was in his heyday, and earlier.

His voice, in conservation, was pleasant and he smiled easily.

Usually those whom I saw greet him in the hotel lobby were of about his age. Doubtless, they had supported him in his numerous campaigns and "Governor Jim" would always be their idol.

Agreements Hit Dust During Vote

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Hopes for early Legislative agreement on money-raising measures hit the dust when the House began to vote.

Future is dim for three of the four deficit - erasing measure recommended by Gov. Price Daniel.

First to be derailed was a proposal to raise the gas production tax from 7 to 10 per cent. sponsor, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, asked that it not be voted out of committee. He expressed hope that the money could be gotten some other way.

Two others -- the abandoned property act and a bill to raise the franchise taxes on interstate corporations -- got overwhelming approval of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee but ran into a hornet's nest of opposition on the House floor. Both were opposed by 79 - to - 69 votes.

Vote on another revenue measure for utility companies was postponed after its sponsor claimed it had been "amended to death". This bill, by Rep. Mac Carriker of Roby, would set a uniform utility tax rate of 1.997 per cent and eliminate exemptions for rural areas and REA co - ops.

Fourth of Governor Daniel's deficit - canceling measures (besides the gas tax, franchise tax and abandoned property act) is a proposal to take the $15,000,000 a year for farm - to - market road building from regular highway funds rather than the general revenue funds.

MAILMEN STAGGER

Supporters of legalized horse racing bargained for time as aroused church people flooded House members' desks with anti-racing letters.

Rep V. E. Berry, sponsor, won by a narrow 79-to-70 vote a motion to postpone action on the racing measure until March 21. Opponents pressed for action to "kill it now."

Some members reported their secretaries were bogged down in answering "hundreds of letters" prompted by sermins and religious magazine articles against the proposal.

Berry's secretary is flooded with mail urging passage of Berry's resolution.

Actually the resolution (HJR-4) does not legalize horse -race betting. It calls only for a poll of public sentiment on the subject of whether or not the voters would like to vote officially on the matter at the next general election.

Then the topic would still be up for legislative debate.

Berry's argument is that the people have a right to express their opinions; and they can do so at the April 4 election at no cost to the state.

DRIVER INSURANCE DEBATED

Everyone wants t o promote safe driving. Disagreements come only o n whether the present merit rating auto insurance plan is a fair and effective means of achieving that end.

In a background briefing for Austin newsmen, Sen. Grady Hazelwood, opponent of the present plan, declared, "I'd like to see a plan that would really promote safe driving ..... but one that law - abiding, decent people can live with."

Referring ot letters he had received, Hazlewood cited case after case in which people declared they had received insurance premium penalties for relatively harmless, minor violations f o r incidents that were not their fault.

County Receives Check From THD

Austin, Texas — A check for $8,527.46 for right of way payment was sent to Milam County today by the Texas Highway Department.

The sum forwarded is the state's share of the cost of the land needed on US Hwy 77, between Rockdale and Minerva.

The check will be transmitted by District Engineer C. B. Thames, of Bryan to the Milam County Commissioners Court.

While county and state share the cost of the right of way, the Texas Highway Department bears the cost of title insurance and pays the entire cost of appraisal work ordered by the Department. Checks for these items have already been forwarded from the Texas Highway Department to the parties concerned.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Demands Right To Be Misquoted If He Says Something He Wishes He Hadn't

Dear editar:

There's a peculiar occurance that shows up in the news every once in a while that has always puzzled me.

For example, a politician in Austin or Washington will come out with a sensational statement that makes the headlines, then when it turns out he has stepped on somebody's toes higher up, or it didn't have the reaction he thought it was going to have, or maybe it made him look like a monkey, he calls in the reporters a second time and announces he was misquoted.

Now the strange thing about this is that everybody seems to accept this explanation, the newspapers carry it and everything goes along like nothing had happened. The same fellow will be on television next week making another statement.

I am not criticizing this, I'm just asking why it can't have a more widespread use?

For example, say six months ago I went into the bank and asked my banker if he'd let me have some money I'd pay it back on March 9, but here it is March 9 and I can't do it. Why can't I call up the bank and say, "Look here, I got this notice in the mail this morning saying my note was due. There's been a mistake. I been misquoted. I been misconstrued. I been taken out of context. When I said March 9, I didn't mean March 9, 1961, I meant March 9, 1971. There's a big difference, you know. Let's set the record straight."

I don't know why it is, they don't read the newspapers enough I guess, but if you tried to pull this on the bankers I know, the story won't end there, like it does in politics.

Or take my neighbor. He's always misquoting me. Just this morning he came over and said, "Where's that pipe wrench you said you'd return in two hours when you borrowed it month before last?"

I said no such thing. What I said was I'd return it in two hours, all right, but that meant I'd take two hours in returning it when I started toward his house. I didn't say what day the two hours would come out of. But he's not up on the national level either and he wanted it right then and was mad to boot.

This misquotation business is one of the handiest devices ever invented by a public official, and Iwould like to see its use trickle down to us plain citizens. No telling when I may say something I wish I hadn't in one of these letters to you, and when I do, I hope you stand ready to admit you misquoted me.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Blakley Urges Pupil Exemption

WASHINGTON — Senator William Blakley, interim U. S. Senator from Texas, has introduced a bill to provide tax relief for college and high school students and their parents.

It would provide a $400 exemption for each full - time high school student and $1,200 a year for a full - time college student.

Blakley said in a statement on the floor of the U. S. Senate:

"Nothing is more important right now than the proper education of the young people of the United States. We must have an educated America if we are to have a strong America, a soundly progressive America.

"As Senators know, the costs of providing this education are constantly rising. But no costs are too high to provide our youth with the best possible training for citizenship -- for today and tomorrow.

"Mr. President, this bill is designed to allow an additional income tax exemption for high school and college students or to those on whom they depend for support. The bill proposes an additional exemption of $1,200 a year for a full - time college student and an exemption of $400 a year for a full - time high school student.

"If the parents or other providers for an individual are supporting the student as he pursues his education, they would receive the exemption. If the individual is putting himself through high school or college by his own efforts, he would receive the exemption.

"The purpose of the bill is simple. My aim is to provide some badly needed assistance to students and to parents who in many cases are making considerable sacrifices in order to educate their children.

"College costs in particular have advanced enormously in the last ten years. Even with the best will in the world more and more parents are finding the burden of getting their sons and daughters through college harder and harder to carry. This bill provides a practical way of easing that burden.

"Mr. President, this type of educational aid does not infringe upon the rights of the States or of the local committees in the field of education. I believe it is important and necessary that we avoid such infringement.

"We can improve our educational opportunities without laying ourselves open to Federal control of local schools. I believe the bill I am offering would result in the advancement of that ideal."

Cameron To Host Relays

36 Schools To Participate In Cameron Relays

Thirty - six schools have accepted invitations to attend the 28th annual Cameron Relays scheduled for March 18th.

Taylor, the meet's defending champions of last year, will head the list of teams that compose one of the biggest scheduled meets held here in several years.

The past four years, with the exception of 1960, have been marred by bad weather, causing a number of schools to cancel their acceptances and cut down on the number of participating squads.

Coach Wallace Johnson and Bill Bates are working the technical end of the meet in preparation for crowd expected. Johnson told The Herald last week that last year's high point man, Steve Malone came out for track Friday.

The same schedule as used in the past will be in effect with preliminaries starting at one p. m. Saturday afternoon. Running events requiring finals will get underway at 7:30 that evening.

Johnson has one schedule meet before the Cameron Relays. This Saturday the Yoemen travel to Brenham for the Blinn Relays. Last year 32 teams competed in the event.

Here is a list of the expected teams for Cameron Relays the 18th:

Clavert, Milano, Buckholts, Bremond, Thorndale, Thrall, Granger, Bartlett, Holland, Chilton, Mart, Riesel, Clifton, Sommerville, Rockdale, Rogers, Marlin, Hearne Caldwell, Taylor, A & M Consolidated, Elgin, Round Rock, Georgetown, McGregor, Groesbeck, Gatesville, LaGrange, Columbus, Mexia, Navasota, San Saba, West, Reicher, Florence and Llana.

Crowd Expected To Be At Golf Tourney

A large crowd is expected to participate in the Scotch Tournament to be held Sunday afternoon, starting at 1 p. m.

The 18 holes of golf will be followed with a supper to start at 6 p. m. All members are urged by the Country Club committee to join in the fun.

Falstaff Leads In Sunshine Bowling League Competition

Falstaff Beer is currently holding down a comfortable first place league lead in the Sunshine bowling league following last week's action.

Citizens National Bank, Coca Cola, Hefley Stedman, Western Auto, New Cameron Drug, Leader Dept. Store and Star Lite Club make up the rest of the team standings in that order.

Ann Hollas rolled the week's high series and high game, a 478 and 194. Irene Mees rolled a 448 series and Frieda Anderle a 445.

Coca Cola accounted for a 2,087 team series; Star Lite rolled a 1,995 series and Falstaff 1,930. Coca Cola rolled the week's high game, 741. Falstaff threw a 685 and Star Lite, 675.

Frieda Anderle rolled the second highest game, 175 and Evelyn Burke the third, 164.

Allen Lawrence of Austin spent the weekend with his family, the Garland Lawrences.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Locklin were here from Houston for a weekend with his father, L. L. Locklin.

CCC Holds Golf Tourney Monday

A Cen - Tex Pro - Amateur Golf Tournament held at the Cameron Country Club Monday was highlighted by the Low ball scoring of Jake Hargrove and Jim Alexander.

The twosome-s low ball score was 68, two below the courses par of 70. Hargrove is from Waco and Alexander from Bryan.

Jerry Rice was medalist with a low score of 72. Rice, with his partner, Dr. Burkhalter of Temple were second in the low ball category with 60, ten below par.

Two twosomes tied for the third position with identical eight below par scores of 62. They were Clarence King, Temple; E. C. Burke, Cameron; Joe Vhla of Rosebud, Arnold Chudye of Waco.

Ed Halvorson of Austin and Tie Valenta of Bryan finished fourth.

Annual Junior Play Held Recently At Yoe School

Yoe High School's Junior class presented their annual class play Tuesday night, Feb. 28 in the high school auditorium.

The presentation, "T'attletale" was a three - act comedy written by Coulter Marless. The play was directed and supervised by Mrs. Beatrice Weise and Miss Louise Green, class sponsors.

The comedy was written about typical teenagers and typical families in a typical town. The excitement comes about when a diary written by Patti Blaine, portrayed by Suzanne Lippman is published in the town newspaper.

Young newspaper editor Paul Cummings, portrayed by James Anderle, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine, portrayed by Phillip Hubnik and Martha Mayer, find themselves in quite a predicament as do most of the other townspeople when they find out what one of their own thinks of them.

Artie Blaine, a half - witted brat, as defined by his sister, is played by David Hudson; Isabel played by Rebecca Harden, is a young woman who finds her emotions mixed between love and hate for the newspaper editor. And Detective Kennedy played by Thomas Leonard, all played important rolls in the turn of events.

Patti Hightower as Ida Mae and Tod, played by Dan Brashear kept the ball of laughter rolling throughtout the play.

Other juniors participating in the play were James Edwards, Margaret Nance, Sandra Baskin, Betty Kestenbaum, and Doris Trdy. Also Ernest Bayer, Jimmy Woodum, Charles Schusler, Frances Jackson, Joyce Terry, Theresa Kozanek, Bobby Hillman, Lanette Laffere, LaNell Russell, Connie Gerick, David Gill, Chris Gay, Stanley Kirk, Kay Harris, Barbara Barta, Joyce Smalley and Carroll Richter.

Cutting Up The Rabbit

There is little usable meat on a rabbit close to the back. So, when cleaning and trimming one, trim the ribs and abdomen close and throw the back away.

This will improve your cuts and make for better cooking.

Alley Oops Tie Flintstones In Guys-Doll Game

The Teen - Age Guys and Dolls Bowling League wound up their third week of play last week with the Alley Oops and Flintstones tied for first place, sporting a 20 - 8 won - lost record.

The Hot Rods are in third with 16 wins and 12 losses, the Whirley Birds are next in line with an 11-17 record. The Yogi's, with 9 wins and 19 losses are in the number five slot. The celler position is held down by the Boo-Boos with 6 wins and 22 losses.

Charles Staley rolled the week's high series 503. Bob Dymke was second with 488, and Bret Shumate third with 486.

The high series for a team was rolled by the Alley Oops, 2,443. The Whirley Birds had a 2,326 series and the Flintstones, 2,306.

Bret Shumate rolled the week's high game, a 219. John A. Smith rolled a 213 and Charles Staley 199.

The Alley Oops with an 860 series were high for the week. The Flintstones with 855 and Hot Rods with 838 were next in line.

Bob Dymke has the league's leading average, 150. Albert Horelica has a 143 and John A. Smith, 140.

WWI Veterans Install Officers

Officers to hold posts for 1961 were elected recently at a meeting held in Ledbetter Park of the Veterans of World War I.

Elected to office were Commander, Henry C. Dreyer; Sr. Vice, G. H. Beckhusen; Jr. Vice, H. Grady Cooper; Quartermaster, J. W. Clements; Adjuant, M. H. Williams; Chaplain, R. A. Michalka; Judge Advocate, W. J. Michalka; Sgt. at Arms, Emil Horelica; yr. Trustee, Bob Clements; 2 yr. Trustee E. C. Semidt; and one yr. Trustee, August Kunz.

There officers were installed by District Commander Fred Lapin of Temple who brought with him 14 of their members and Ladies of the Auxiliary.

Coffee and donuts were served.

VIEW ON SPORTS

— WITH ROBERT MANN —

By Robert Mann

The Fighting Yoemen track squad will get a chance to show their stuff when Saturday rolls around and cinder coach Wallace Johnson takes his crew to Taylor for the Cotton Bowl Relays.

One of the toughest and largest meets held in Central Texas, the Yoemen will run into plenty of stiff competition; last year they failed to place in the event, despite winning the Rockdale Relays and finishing third in Cameron's Invitational Track Meet late in the season.

Steve Malone, one of the most natural athletes ever to walk across the Yoe High campus came out for track Friday after some hesitation on his part about whether he would participate in the sport.

Carroll Fikes, Ed Lierman, Jimmy Weathers, Earl Morgan, and company are a few of the senior tracksters working out daily under Johnson.

V O S

Jack Larimore's duties now include coaching Yoe High's golf team. He hopes to build the sport up to compete with tennis and other optional school activities.

John A. Smith, Tom Moody, Billy Hawkes, Jimmy Woodum, and Melvin Provasek are his present golfing team. None of these boys is above their junior year in school and most have no more than a year or so of golfing experience behind them.

Larimore plans to have a few small tournaments before Interscholastic League and district meet day roll around.

V O S

George Zarosky, former Yoe grid star, has dropped out of the University of Houston due to a foot injury received in spring training. Zarosky was attending Houston U. on a football scholarship, no more information was available about him or his future plans at presstime.

Rockdale Minstrel Set Friday, Saturday

"Dixie Frolics of '61.', the Rockdale Lions Club's giant Minstrel Show production, will be staged Friday and Saturday nights in the Rockdale High School auditorium, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Director Al Menke said the show will feature end-men antics, musical variety, a six - piece Dixieland band, comedy and color. "Costumes for everyone and colorful lighting will make the production the best in the three - year history of the Rockdale Lions' Minstrel," he added.

Tickets will be sold at the doors Friday and Saturday for 90 cents for adults, 50 cents for students. All proceeds from the show will be used in Lions projects for community betterment.

A Mexican supper will be sponsored in the high school cafeteria preceding the Saturday-night show. Also sponsored by the Lions, the Mexican Supper will sell for $1. for adults and 50 cents for children.

DeArmond Given Command Post

Lt. Co. Velfort J. DeArmond Jr. has been named Commander of the 4677th Defense Systems Evaluation Squadron at Hill AFB in Utah.

The squadron tests the defensive capability of the Western half of North America by flying B-57 "night intruder" jet aircraft to simulate aggressor action.

Col. DeArmond was stationed at Malmstrom AFB in Montana before his new assignment. He is married to the former Barbara O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. O'Neill) of Cameron. They have two sons, Barry 14, and David 13.

A native of Baton Rouge, La., Col. De Armond entered the service in 1941 and received his pilot's wings in 1942. During WWII he was a B-26 bomber pilot. He was shot down over Cagliari, Sardinai in Feb. 1942 and was a prisoner of war for nine months before escaping to allied forces.

Since the war the Colonel has been a squadron commander and a special projects officer at Hq. U. S. Air Force and at Wheelus Air Base, Tripoli.

Mondrik, McDonald Battling For The First Place Position

Mondrik Minimax and McDonald Plumbing are battling it out for the first place finish in the Cam-Roc Bowling League. Minimax is currently holding down the number one slot with 55 wins and 37 losses.

McDonald with a 54½-37½ won-lost record is in second place. Lone Star Beer and Rockdale Flower Shop make up the rest of the first division.

Pearl Beer, Farm and Ranch, Acme Sheet Metal, and 7-Up wrap up the league's standings in that order.

Annette Mees is the leagues top bowlers with a 155 average. Bennie Mayer with 149 and Marie Ann Laake with 148 averages are second and third.

Ida Michalka had a successful night at the lanes winning the high series with 508 and rolling the second highest game of 181. Mollie Gavodny rolled a 181 game and rolled the second high series of 491. Vera Thompson rolled a 186 game and Helen Sulke rolled a 476 series for thw week.

Minimax rolled a 2,214 series, McDonald 2,163 and Lone Star, 2,123. The Rockdale Flower Shop rolled a high team game of 779, Minimax rolled a 747 and McDonald 744.

Rev. McGregor, Marlow Pastor, Resigns Position

Rev. A. W. McGregor, pastor of the Marlow Baptist Church for the past two years, has announced his resignation effective March 12. He and his family will move to Dallas where he will become pastor of the Beckley - Wynnewood Baptist Church.

There has been twenty -five additions to the Marlow Church during Rev. McGregor's ministry here and many improvements made in the church plant. The auditorium and educational annex have been completely remodeled, a rest room added, and the outside of the buildings completely repaired and repainted. Giving to the church has increased by approximately 40 per cent and Sunday School attendance has increased by 33 per cent.

The Beckley - Wynnewood Baptist Church, in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas, has approximately 850 members, 40,000 square feet of floor space including two Sunday School units, is completely air conditioned and central heated and has property valued at a quarter of a million dollars. A new Youth - Education Building including a completely equipped full scale gymnasium has just recently been completed by the church.

Rev. McGregor, a graduate of the University of Corpus Christi, will receive his Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary of Fort Worth in May of this year.

Plans Made For Clinic; YHS Band To Participate

Organizational plans are being completed for the Tenth Annual Rosebud band clinic to be held at Rosebud High School on Tuesday, March 14.

Highlights of the clinic will be a concert at 7:45 p. m. in the gym by the four participating bands from Cameron, Marlin, La Vega (Bellmead), and Rosebud.

Clinicians that will work with the students are Jack Manry, band director of the Sam Houston State Teachers College band and Donald I. Moore, conductor of the Baylor Golden Wave band. High school band directors participating include Francis Cox, Cameron; Hal Spencer, Marlin; Preston Miles, Bellmead; and Duane Hunter, Rosebud.

The clinic is scheduled to begin at 9 a. m. with Donald I. Moore working with the Cameron band and Jack Manry working with the Rosebud band. At 10:30 a. m. Moore will work with the LaVega band and Manry the Marlin band. From 2 to 4 p. m. the clinicians and participating directors will work with the clinic concert band in preparation for the clinic concert at 7:45 p. m. in the gym. This concert is free to the public.

The membership of the concert band has been picked as follows: Cameron 34 members; Marlin, 34 members; LaVega 28 members; and Rosebud, 20 members. These students from each band have been selected by their respective directors as the better students of their organizations.

Whose Bird Is It?

Who has the rightful claim to game shot by more than one hunter?

This question has pleagued sportsmen since time began.

There is no single answer. Proper etiquette is observed differently according to the section of the country.

Most wildly accepted is that the deer, bird, or other animal belongs to the one who first wounds it. Other shots are supposed to kill . . but only to prevent waste or suffering.

Committee Named For New Library Fund Donations

Planning Board Chairman E. A. Perrin Wednesday reported that a finance committee for out-of-town donations to a new Cameron Library has been named.

It was the third committee announced following organiation of the 90 - member Library Planning Board. Previous committees named have been the building committee and public relations committee.

Heading the out-of-town donations committee is Oxsheer Smith. Committee members are: W. C. Wallace, Niley Smith, Mrs. Bess Triggs and Mrs. Graham Gillis.

The building committee is awaiting additional literature on library construction and requirements Perrin noted.

The public relations is due to meet, the Planning Board chairman added, to establish some rules to govern terminology and plans for publicity.

The Planning Board met two weeks ago for the first time with 75 members representing 23 civic and fraternal groups and 12 churches.

They elected Perrin chairman of the Planning Board, Hinton Pruett vice - chairman and Mrs. K. K. Robbins secretary.

Perrin added that he would call another meeting of the main Planning Board after the building and other committees determine recommendations for the whole group's study.

Guilty Verdict Follows Trial In Milam Court

James Evans Davis, 19, of Brady drew a two - year probated penitentiary sentence Tuesday following a bench verdict of guilty of murder without malice.

Davis, handsome, crew - cut Texas A & M student, had entered a plea of nolo contendre to indictment charges of murder without malice in the auto death of folksinger Johnny Horton, nationally known ballad singer.

The trial without jury lasted 30 minutes Tuesday morning in Milam District Court. Two witnesses for the state were called by Dist - Atty. Jack Prescott while Emory B. Camp, defense attorney, called five witnesses, including the defendant's father, J. R. Davis.

In passing sentence, District Judge W. C. Wallace remanded young Davis to the custody of McCullough County Judge Love Kimbrough, probationary officer, for the duration of the two - year suspended sentence.

Judge Wallace said he based his decision on the nature of the case, Davis' youth and evidence of his good reputation and past record.

He admonished Davis on "the extreme seriousness of the offense" and said "the gravity of the offense cannot be minimized."

"The Court realizes the sorrow and tragedy already borne by the defendent. By probating this sentence we hope to give you a chance to bear out the confidence that your friends and community have shown in you..'

Davis' driver's license was suspended for six months.

The Brady youth sat quietly at his attorney's side during the brief trial, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Davis, of Brady, sitting behind him. He stood when sentence was read.

The trial followed young Davis' indictment by a Milam District Grand Jury in February.

Davis did not contend charges that his Ford Ranchero was in collision with singing star Johnny Horton's Cadillac, which resulted in Horton's death. The wreck occurred about 1 a. m. November 5 at the rail overpass on US 79 in Milano.

Horton was rushed to St. Edward's Hospital in Cameron where doctors pronounced him dead of injuries to his chest, face and leg.

Two companions, Tilman Franks 40, of Shreveport, La., and Gerald Tomlinson, 30, his guitarist suffered injuries but escaped death in the smashed - up 1960 Cadillac. They and Horton's body were flown to Shreveport after the wreck.

Davis suffered a broken ankle and cuts and bruises. His Ranchero was heavily damaged.

Crowd Attends Scout-O-Rama

Approximately one thousand people attended the Tejas District Scout-O-Rama held at the Cameron National Guard Armory Saturday, according to Rev. Alfred Kallus, General Chairman.

Rev. Kallus said this was the largest attendance ever to visit a Scout-O-Rama in this District.

"Without the fine work on ticket sales and exhibits by Scout Units and with all the good work of all the committee, we could not have had such a fine show", he continued.

Hilliard Thomas, Chairman of Judging said his committee presented 12 blue ribbons, 4 red ribbons and 3 yellow ribbons. Everyone did such a fine job, it was difficult for the judges to score.

Winner of the opportunity to draw with 6 other district winners for a Go - Kart is Larry Currey, Cub in Lion Cub Pack 288 at Rockdale. Larry is sure to win a Transistor radio. His name was drawn from fifty other Scouts, who sold 10 tickets, according to H. D. Maxwell, Attendance Chairman.

District Camping and Activities Chairman, W. A. Wallace, said we not only had a fine show of Scouting for the boys and public, but we made some money for Camp Tahuaya, our Boy Scout Camp near Belton.

This is the fist of five Scout-O-Rama's being held in the Heart O-Texas Council.

Ol' 101

With F. M. L.

With idealism braced by economics of left and right, Ol'101 felt rather impressed in coming upon a creed that sends journalists out in a quest for service from the Uof Mo.

It was written by a country journalist who founded that School of Journalism. He was an idealist or he wouldn't have been successful. Nor would the School.

Any how, his idealism was not socialistic or futuristic or subject to some shade of "ism". The crux of the "Journalist's Creed.', comparable in its highest interpretation to the doctor's Oath of Hippocrates, resounds in a couple of phrases. May we quote:

"(I believe) ..... that the supreme test of good journalism is the measure of its public service .....I believe that the journalism which succeeds best and best deserves success -- fears God and honors man ....."

The man who wrote these and other lofty phrases was Walter Williams, a Southern editor who gave them meaning in 5,000 graduates of the past half century.

What binds journalism and most every field of endeavor these days is an eternal escape from "ism" to "ism". But Williams wasn't talking about socialistic means to public service. He was talking about service, subject to merit and individual need.

Rather than follow this difficult course, we form up in extreme direction and lose purpose in numbers. And power becomes the end, not just the means. When it reaches a peak it has no where else to go.

Moderation is sometimes a cloak we wear to cover the rumble that goes on beneath. But moderation or balance is the only sensible thing man can hope to achieve. Nature's beauty is her balance.

The same goes for journalism. Walter Williams' creed urges this on young journalists. And sometimes they are "fools'. and listen.

"The wage earners making $500 per month or less pay 85½ percent of all the income tax collected. Those making from $600 to $2,000 per month pay 12½ per cent of the taxes, and those making more than that pay only 2 per cent."

Dr. Bryson Speaks To Milam TB Group; Officers Elected

Dr. John Bryson, Director of the Bell and Williamson County Health Department was guest speaker at the Milam County TB Association annual banquet which was held at the Texan Cafe last Monday.

Dr. Bryson explained the pilot tuberculin testing program being carried out in Bell County. TB is the leading cause of death -- 150,000 people know they have TB and another 100,000 do not know they have it, he said. It is the task of the private physicians, public health agencies and TB associations to find unknown cases and try to get them hospitalized and to work for the eradication of tuberculosis.

New officers elected were Dr. E. O. Smith, President, Mrs. Theda McGee, 1st vice - president, Harry Wayne Clark, 2nd vice-president, Dr. Phillip M. Young, 3rd vice - president, Mrs. Dorothy Hyden, treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Wheeler, executive secretary, and Mrs. Martha Adams, secretary.

Mrs. Dorothy Hyden and Miss Emma Hardie will attend the 53rd Annual Meeting of the Texas Tuberculosis Association in Corpus Christi, March 16-18, as voting delegates from the Milam County Association. Mrs. Mildred Wheeler will attend the Executive Secretaries Section of the meeting.

The next meeting of the Association will be in Rockdale in June.

A&M Educator Tells Of Need In India, Pakistan

E. B. Walton, head of the Agricultural Education Dept. of Texas A & M College, Monday addressed the Cameron Lions Club.

Introduced by Gerald Underwood principal of Yoe High School, Walton told of the overseas program of Texas A & M. The program provides training and assistance for natives of countries such as India and Pakistan.

He said the program is a movement to improve their agricultural methods, thus producing more food for their starving peoples.

Walton described the overpopulation in India and Pakistan where he recently visited. Hunger and starvation are the rule and not exception in those countries, he said.

He said people are still farming there as they did 2,000 years before Christ.

He added that religion is another obstacle. Sacred animals such as monkeys and Brahma cattle are given more food in India than the people.

Walton described American technicians' attitudes as a further problem. Most of American workers are unwilling to go into the villages and work with the people to improve their way of life.

He estimated that 15,000 more agricultural technicians are needed each year to meet these needs.

WEATHER NOTES

Temperatures for the past week ranged from a high of 84 Sunday to a low of 40 Friday. No rainfall was recorded during the week.

County Agent Notes

New Emergency Committee Told

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

The Milam county agent and the Farmers Home Administration Supervisor attended a two - day training meeting this week at Temple, relative to assignments in case of atomic war. The purpose of this article is not to excite or alarm anyone but merely inform the pubic that plans are being formulated by the United States Department of Agriculture to correlate Civil Defense on a local basis with the national office of Civil Defense.

Agricultural agencies in no way plan to assume responsibilities of a wide scope but plans are to assist the county Civil Defense chairman in informing our people on their protection in case of a disaster relating to agricultural commodities.

Briefly, the Milam county emergency planning committee is headed by Hoyt Gaston of the local FHA office as chairman. J. D. Moore, county agent is deputy chairman, Alva Sanders of the ASC office is secretary and the files are to be kept in his office. All other agricultural gencies are on the committee.

ASSIGNMENTS — The County Agricultural and Stabalization office (ASC) will furnish information relating to feed and feed supplies grown locally, available acreage, etc. The Welfare department will handle food as a commodity, its use and distribution, etc.

The Soil Conservation Service will furnish a monitoring service with a Gieger counter to detect the amount of radio active "fall-out" on locally grown crops and livestock used for food and feed consumption.

The Farmers Home Administration will have a responsibility in dealing with financial assignments. The Health Department with health assignments, etc. The Extension Service will assist in furnishing information.

Meetings will be called to coordinate efforts and assist in informing our people on various aspects of atomic warfare.

Kiwanis Clubs Win 10th Award For CQ Contest

Kiwanis International has won its tenth top award in the annual Freedoms Foundation citizenship contest, it was announced today by LeRoy Massengale, president of the Kiwanis Club of Cameron.

The high honor, specified as the Distinguished Service Award, came to Kiwanis on February 22. It was presented at the annual Freedoms Foundation awards ceremony at Valley Forge. The award was made for Kiwanis' CQ (Citizenship Quotient) project which encouraged citizens to determine the extent and kind of their individual citizenship activity (citizenship quotient) and to take steps to correct any deficiencies noted. Kiwanis has won a top award in all but two of the twelve annual Freedoms Foundation citizenship contests.

According to LeRoy Massengale "The Freedoms Foundation Award has long enjoyed the same stature in the community service field as the 'Oscar' in the motion picture field, and the 'Emmy' in the television field."

About 1200 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada are currently operating CQ programs, and several hundred organizations of other types, including manufacturers, other service organizations, trade associations, etc. have also started CQ programs.

Approximately 800 awards were made on February 22 by the Freedoms Foundation, LeRoy Massengale said.

Reseeding Grassland Methods One Way To Restore Grasses

COLLEGE STATION — There is an estimated 10 to 12 million acres of abandoned cropland and an additional several million acres of denuded or barren rangeland in Texas. This land is producing little or no income for the owners, but reseeding with adapted grasses is one method which may be used to bring at least part of it back into profitable production.

G. O. Hoffman and B. J. Ragsdale, extension range specialists, say there are, however, several things to consider before reseeding any particular plot of land.

One of the first is take a survey of the vegetation currently growing on the land. If 15 percent or more of native key grass species are found in the area, do not reseed. In this case, the specialists say, it will be cheaper and much better to use deferred grazing with proper stocking to rebuild the pasture.

If reseeding is decided on, however, the next thing to do is have a soil test made. Grasses, just like other crops, need the proper nutrients, and soil testing and fertilization is the way to make sure they have them. The soil should be prepared just as it would for a cash crop. This can be done by plowing, growing an annual legume and leaving it or turning it under to enrich the soil. Next should come a sorghum, planted late in the season so the seed will not mature.

Now the land is ready for reseeding with grass. Plant the grass seed in the stubble to reduce damage to the young seedlings by wind erosion, packing from rain, or from high soil temperatures. Hoffman and Ragsdale say that only seed of high quality and high germinatuon should be planted.

The grass should be planted in rows so it can be cultivated for weed control. Cover the seed no more than seven times its diameter usually one-fourth to one inch, depending on the kind used. It is desirable to pack the soil after planting with a cultipacker or roller, the specialists continue.

After the grass is established, control the weeds and use moderate grazing, and you're in the forage production business, Hoffman and Ragsdale conclude.

Sharp 4-H Club Cites 4-H Week

The Sharp 4-H Club celebrated National 4-H Club week with an educational tour Thursday.

Sixteen club boys with their sponsors visited the Charles Stigall poultry and hog ranch in Davilla.

There they say 12 laying houses with 4000 hens in each house. These houses are equipped with automatic feeders and waters. They saw the feed mills where feed is processed for chickens and hogs.

The group learned the eggs were gathered five times a day, cleaned, graded, cased and cooled for the Dallas market. They saw baby chickens and pullets for replacements.

Some feeder hogs, divided in age groups, were on green pastures Others were in hog parlors.

The group visited Bobby Hosch Sears gilt and Johnny Hosch's broilers. Next Carey Wayne Offield's hog and broiler were viewed.

The tour was ended at the Nelson Davis ranch, where they visited Reed Davis projects and enjoyed a picnic supper.

Reed, president of the Sharp club, has a sheep and lamb project, broilers and is feeding a registered Hereford calf.

E. D. Walton, head of the Agriculture Education Department A & M College, delivered a short message to the student body of Yoe High School last Monday in the Yoe High auditorium.

Walton spoke on the problems of today's youth, stressing that all privileges and freedoms have a price tag on them.

As an example, Walton used four dollars, insertng an instance or privilege a youngster expects and then emphasizing what explanation is due the youngster's parents before the privilege should be granted.

Recently returning from an overseas tour, Walton is currently instructing a counseling course to Yoe High teachers. He was introduced to the student body by principal Gerald Underwood.

IRS Speeds Return Of Refund Checks

In keeping with the President's campaign to combat the current economic recession, the Internal Revenue Service has speeded up the scheduling and mailing of refund checks to taxpayers.

R. L. Phinney, District Director of Internal Revenue at Austin, announced that 297,124 tax refunds have been mailed to taxpayers in South Texas through March 3, 1961 as compared to 191,424 for the same period during 1960. Moneywise, $29,400,000 has been paid so far this year against $16,700,000 for last year, representing a 75 per cent increase of over $12,700,-000.

Phinney added that this accelerated program has been possible only because of the splendid cooperation of taxpayers filing returns early.

The annual Cage Clinic for those connected with the commercial egg industry in Texas will be held on March 29 at Texas A & M

Gun Cleaning Caution

When coming in from a hunt on a cold day, don't sit down at once to clean, oil and put away your gun.

Wait until after supper so the gun will have time to warm up to room temperature. This will prevent moisture from collecting on the cold metal, causing it to rust later.

Confederate Secretary Says Conflict Unlikely

By Robert Stondale
Cameron Herald Correspondent

MONTGOMERY, Ala. - President Jefferson Davis has completed the organization of his official family by distributing posts in his cabinet among leading representatives of the various States. Today he approved legislation providing for military defense of the Republic.

Aiding in the enormously difficult task of developing administrative machinery for a new government are Robert Toombs of Georgia who has been named Secretary of State, Judah P. Benjamin of Alabama, Attorney - General, Christopher Memminger of South Carolina, Secretary of the Treasury and John H. Reagan of Texas, Postmaster - General.

The War Department has been placed under the administration of LeRoy Pope Walker of Alabama. Secretary Walker, who holds a gneral's commission in the Alabama militia doubts that war is an immediate prospect.

"We are plagued by empty - headed orators both North and South," he said at a news conference yesterday, "who are anxious to gain notoriety by warlike talk.

"I will wipe up with my hankerchif any and all blood shed in intersectional strife." he added.

Congress recently approved a design for the official flag of the Confederate States of America, and the proud banner fluttered to the Capitol dome in ceremonies held last Sunday. Created by Orren Randolph Smith of Lewisburg, North Carolina, the National Emblem is a masterpiece of beauty and simplicity. It bears three broad bars, one white and two red, with seven stars on a blue field. It was a wise choice over the proposals which featured eagles, snakes and awkwardly posed goddesses of victory.

The Flag was raised by Miss Letitia Tyler, grand - daughter of the former U. S. President and was honored by a salute of 100 guns.

In other recent legislation, the Congress has approved the establishment of a regular army of 10,745 officers and men, a number that several observers describe as more than adequate for a peaceful nation. An auxiliary provisional army having maximum enrollment of 10,000 volunteers was also authorized for service during the present emergency.

Pierre Gustave Toutant Beauregard of Louisiana, 42 year old U. S. Army veteran, was the first general officer confirmed by the Senate last week. General Geauregard served with distinction during the Mexican War and was twice cited for gallantry in that conflict. He resigned his commission in the Union Army last month after being relieved as Superintendent of West Point due to his Southern birth.

Braxton Bragg, another Louisianian and Mexican War hero, was also appointed to the rank of Brigadier - General in the new army.

General Beauregard has been ordered to Charleston to take command of the harbor defenses there, while General Bragg has received a similar assignment at Pensacola.

The new military force has received its first assession from the ranks of those Northern patriots who are aware that the Confederacy may become the last refuge for all Americans who detest a centralized tyranny. General Samuel Cooper, a native of rank of Adjutant General in the Federal Service and has been appointed Brigadier General in the Confederate States Army. His vast administrative experience is certain to prove of great value to the South.

The War Department has taken charge of the U. S. forts and property seized last month by Texas authorities. These include the installations at San Antonio and Camp Cooper and the U. S. Revenue Cutter "Dodge" seized last week at Galveston.

Certain military units organized by the various Confederate States are being temporarily assigned to control of the Confederate War Department for us until the present crisis passes. Included are the South Carolina forces now defending Charleston Harbor. Recruiting for the regular confederate service will begin shortly.

MRS. THOMAS LEON BEALE

Miss Nita Bagley Weds Thomas Leon Beale

Miss Nita Ann Bagley became the bride of Thomas Leon Beale Friday at the University Baptist Church in Abilene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bagley of St. Joseph, La. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beale Sr. of Cameron.

Dr. Billy P. Smith performed the ceremony with Mrs. Gerald Qualls, organist and Mrs. Bob Neely, soloist, furnishing wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace shortlength dress with a sweetheart neckline and a fingertip veil on a crown of pearls. She carried a pearl white bible with a bouquet of white split carnations around a white gardinia.

Miss Martha Bartlett, Meadow, was maid of honor. She wore a blue sheath dress with a short jacket. Her hat was a small white velvet band. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Bestman was Jack Swan, Lubbock. Ushers were John Carin Yancy, Tye and Howard Beale brother of the bridegroom, Abilene.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Fellowship Hall. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Howard Beale Abilene; Mrs. John Yancy, Tye and Mrs. B. Franklin Yancy, Abilene.

Mrs. Beale is a 1957 graduate High School in 1955, attended of C. E. Byrd Hih School in Shreveport, La. and a January, 1961 graduate of Hardin - Simmons University, Abilene.

Mr. Beale graduated from Yoe Texas A & M College and graduated from Hardin - Simmons University in January of 1961. He is now enrolled in grad school.

The couple will make their home at 2324 Pine, Abilene where they are both employed.

Tracy Methodist Church Members Plan Business Year

By Mrs. Florence Spiegel

At a conference at the Tracy Methodist Church Saturday night, the members of the church and their pastor, the Rev. John Edgar, planned the work of the church for the new year.

Following the business session, a family night supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Wenzel of Rockdale and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kraatz and children of Dallas spent Sunday with their family, the Ben F. Kraatzs.

Recent guests in Mrs. Bob Davis home were Mrs. Willie Offield of Rockdale; and Mrs. Earl Denson and Mrs. Melissa Mitcham, Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Drummond spent the weekend in Houston visiting their daughters, Mrs. George Riddle and Mrs. Jack Lands, Jr. and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bartlett had as weekend guests their granddaughter, Delores Bartlett of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Stach of Jarrell.

Garden Contest Open To Pre-Teens

By Home Demonstration Agent

ATTENTION: Pre-teen and teen age boys and girls interested in gardening. Would you like to take part in a garden contest? You do NOT have to be a member of an organization to be eligible to take part in the Young America Gardens Contest sponsored by Flower & Garden Foundation. But, you will have to belong to a group with an adult leader supervising the group and garden propects.

There are many different types of garden projects you can undertake. There are no restrictions on the size of the garden, its location or the propect undertaken. The following are some suggested projects: 1. Grow a general vegetable garden. Could be for home or market. Record keeping adds to the interest and value of the project. 2. A garden of annual flowers. Could take many sizes and shapes. Possibilities unlimited. 3. A vine garden. Anybody with limited space could have fun with this. Use walls or fences. 4. A shade garden. A woodland garden. A wild garden. A garden of miniatures. A monochrome garden (all one color). A sculptured garden (using topiary). Porch or window box garden. Espaliering. All of these offer possibilities.

If you are interested in taking park in this contest, please call or write: Mrs. Frances H. Johnson, Milam county home demonstration agent, P. O. Box 548, Cameron. Ph. OX 7-3382

Cleaning Upholstery On Foam Rubber

Much of the newer furniture is cushioned with foam rubber and upholstered with fabric. Women are asking if the fabric can be cleaned at home without damage to the foam rubber. Yes, just be sure to use a SAFE cleaning agent.

Select your cleaning agent by considering first, the nature of the stain, next the type of fabric, and lastly the effect of the cleaning agent on foam rubber. Soaps, detergents, glycerine, denatured alcohol, benzene, sodium hydrosulfite, sodium thiosulphate and a weak solution of ammonia are acceptable cleaning agents as far as the foam rubber is concerned.

Normal rubbing of the outside covering on tight or fixed seats will not harm the foam rubber cushion. Foam rubber is tender when wet but its normal strength returns when dry.

Cleaning agents that DO have a harmful effect on foam rubber are of the bleaching and oxidizing types. The following ARE NOT recommended: vinegar, turpentine, acetone, chlorine, hydrogen peroxide, oxalic acid and sodium perborate.

If the nature of the stain or the type of the fabric calls for the use of one of the above cleaning agents, the fabric should be removed from the foam rubber and cleaned separately.

Methodists Boost Church Attendance

Members of the First Methodist Church are conducting a drive emphasizing church attendance during the pre - Easter services.

Albert McCullin, chairman of church membership and attendance, has asked church classes to issue special invitations for regular services.

The Mollie Moore Class last week contacted each member by telephone and this week the Youth Department will make contacts through the news media and cards.

An estimated 20 per cent increase in Sunday morning services attendance has been noted.

Annette Mees maintained a 156 league leading average. Bennie Mayer is second with 150.

Mrs. Lester, Manning Take Golf Honors

Chili Manning and Bernice Lester took top honors at the Scotch Golf Tournament held at the Cameron Country Club last Sunday afternoon.

The twosome alternated on hitting the ball throughout the 18 hole tournament. Other tournament rules called for all golfers to putt left - handed on green two and to use lemons instead of golf balls on green nine.

The winning twosomes combined score was ninety - one. The second place winners, George Falls of Caldwell and Lucille Monroe of Cameron, scored a 92. Tom Moody of Cameron and Dick Connors of Rosebud shot a combined 93 for third place.

There were fifty - two playing participatns in the tournament, all of them being club members. Prizes were golf balls. A constellation prize was given to all the golfers in the form of a buffet supper following the tournament.

"Although originally planned as an annual affair, such a good time was had by all we play to have another Scotch Tournament in the near future," added Ed Manning.

The tournament was sponsored by the Women's Golfers Association.

Alley Oops Take First Place Lead

The Alley Oops are in first place in the Guys and Dollas Bowling League after over a month of action on behalf of the teenagers in the league.

Bowling for the University of Texas she made a clean sweep of rolling the top score of 216, the highest series with a 5?6 and taking the all - events with a 1,534. She averaged 170 4-9 for the nine games.

In her top series of 549 her scores ran 216 - 171 - 159. She took fifth place in the doubles and the Texas University team placed first in the tournament.

Barbara is assistant leader of the UT Strike and Spare Club, which is part of the University Texas Sports Association.

YHS Track Team Earns Six Points

The Fighting Cameron Yoemen track team earned six points at the Cotton Boll Relays in Taylor last Saturday.

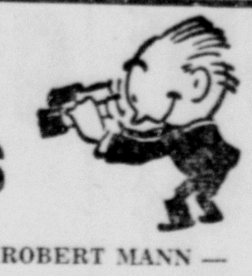
Competing against forty - seven schools from the surrounding Texas area, the Yoemen sported Ed Lierman in his third place finish in the high hurdles; his time was 14.9 and he accounted for the six Yoe tallies.

Taylor, host to the meet was crowned meet champion, Georgetown second and Bellville third.

Ernie Coy was the meet's hgih point man and set a new record in the discus throw with a 153 foot, six inch toss. Coy hails from Bellville.

The mile relay event was won by Taylor with a three minute, 33 second time. Martin of Reichert ran a ten second 100 yard dash for first place in that event.

CAMERON HERALD VIEW ON SPORTS



— WITH ROBERT MANN —

Biggest news on the sports scene this week is the 26th annual Invitational track meet, scheduled for Yoe High Field Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

We do mean big. Thirty - seven teams have accepted track coach Wallace Johnson's inivtation to attend the meet and the day should be a very eventful one, running wise.

Preliminaries are scheduled to kick off at 1:30 with the finals starting at 7:30. Known for its relays and relay events, all relays will be run at night.

Better known as the "Cameron Relays" to many fans, the weather outlook is good and barring a sudden change in Mother Nature's mind, the meet will compete in popularity and size, with those held by former Yoe Head Coach, Leo Jackson.

The past four years, with the exception of 1960, when twenty teams were present, have met with bad weather.

VOS

The Yoemen's main hopes rest in the abilities of Steve Malone and Edward Lierman. The meet will be Malone's second of the year. Last year he was high point man of the event.

The lanky Lierman accounted for all of Cameron's six points in the Cotton Boll Relays and barring mishap, will be the man to watch in the 100 yard dash, 220, and the hurdle runs along with Malone.

Carroll Fikes, Earl Morgan, Jimmy McClaren and Jimmy Weathers are others Johnson is hoping will bring in some extra tallies.

VOS

The Cameron Cardinals, local baseballers, will start their 1961 season off Sunday at Colonial Field for a tilt with the Temple Tigers.

Under the new management of John Ortiz and Tony Mendoza, the Cards hope to have a successful season. Gametime is 2:30 p. m. and the general public is invited to attend.

Citizens National Rolls First 900 Game Last Week

The Citizens National Bank team rolled the first over 900 game in the Tri - City Bowling league with a 905 score in last Wednesday's play.

The Childress Real Estate team leads the league by 4½ games with a 59½-29½ record to the Citizens' 55-34 and Lone Star Beer's 43 - 46 record.

In the individual efforts last week Thomas Gilliland with a 526 series and a 216 game for a top series and second best game of the night. Knubby Moore had a 223 to take the top game. Joe Humplik hot a 525 series and Earl Curtis had a 524.

White's Auto had a 2361 to laad the team bowling. Childress hit a 2342 and Western Auto rolled a 2334. Western Auto had the second high team game with a 866 and Whites took third with a 821.

Charles Hollas maintained the top average with a 171 followed by Joe Humplik with a 167 and Harlan Mees and Thomas Gilliland with a 162.

Fleur-de-lis Garden Club Has Program On Plant Grooming

Mrs. C. A. Atkins of Rosebud shared information on grooming exhibition plants and conditioning plants material at the Fleur-de-lis Garden Club meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. John Mitchell.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Mitchell were Mrs. Eugene Mees and Mrs. Albert Michalka.

Following her program, Mrs. Atkins, a member of the Rosebud Garden Club, presented each member with a bigonia plant.

During the business meeting Mrs Jimmy Lester presented the clubs flower show schedule. The show will be called "Spring Fantasies" and will be held May 9 at the home of Mrs. E. O. Smith. Flower show committee members are Mrs. Lester, show chairman; Mrs. E. O. Smith, co - chairman; Mrs. Bill Hornung, schedule; Mrs. James Wiggs, judges and hospitality; and Mrs. Eldon Batte, awards and entries.

'Madam President' Club Program Topic

"Madam President", interesting scetches about wives of former presidents of the United States, was presented by Mrs. J. C. Martin for the History Club Tuesday afternoon.

The club met in the home of Mrs. W. G. Gillis with two guests, Mrs. Ralph Chamber of McGregor and Mrs. W. A. Bonds.

In her program Mrs. Martin included little known facts about the presidents wives lives and contributions to their husbands careers.

Following the meeting the hostess served a salad plate with Mrs. Bonds and Mrs. Chambers assisting. Arrangements of spring flower and dogwood blossoms decorated the party rooms.

of about 30 people, mostly law officers or witnesses, watched the proceedings.

Dist - Atty. Prescott questioned State Patrolman Gilbert Smith on circumstances of the accident with Smith testifying that Davis' vehicle was three feet (south) over the road centerstripe. Smith then identified a statement by Davis concerning the accident and said he found Horton unconscoius after the collision.

Then Dr. C. G. Swift Cameron physician testified that Horton was dead on arrival at St. Edward's hospital with death caused by crushing injuries to the chest.

The defense called four character witnesses and the defendent's fathr to the stand. In brief testimony, State Rep. Clifford Townsend, McCullough County Sheriff Luke Vogel, McCullough County Atty. Aubrey Davey and McCullough County Judge Kimbrough all testified to young Davis' good reputation and considered probation justified in the case.

J. R. Davis, the boy's father, testified that his son had a good previous record.

Other testimony showed that the senior Davis was a Brady businessman and Mrs. Davis was a school teacher in Brady.

Prescott told the Court that an investigation of the case by his office and Sheriff Carl Black produced no evidence to contest probation.

Yoe Students Take 11 Places At Austin Fair

Three first, four seconds, and four third places, read the list of achievements recorded by eleven Yoe High School students at the District Science and Mathematics Fair held in Austin's Municipal Colosium last Friday.

All of the eleven participating Cameron students placed in the fair. They were selected to make the trip on the basis of their being winners in the local science fair held in Cameron last Tuesday.

Mrs. Herbert Nance, director of Yoe High's science department, was impressed with the fair and particularly proud of her eleven students.

Janice Simecek, Yoe High Freshman and a first place winner in last week's fair, won a blue ribbon for her first place in the technical division, under Arts and Models. Her exhibit was "Anatomy of the Human Body".

Theresa Koranek and Gwen Zawadzke, both Juniors, were the other first place winners. Miss Koranek won first for her "Velocity of Light.' in the descriptive Science division of the technical division.

Also in the technical division, Miss Zawadzke won her blue ribbon for her research paper on Anti Acid Stomach Remedies.

Lanette Laffere, with her "Effects of Leukemia on White Cells" won second place. Annette Dodd received a second place red ribbon for her model of "Allotropic forms of Carbon."

Marieanne Jones, with her drawing of "How Seeds are Made" got a second, as did Mary Lucu Barcenus for her exhibit of "How to Grow Bacteria," in the Biological Science classification.

John Lawhon, sophomore, won a third place white ribbon for his Physical Science entry of an Electrostatic Generator. Larry Schiller's "Blood Typing" in the Biological Science Applied category got a third also.

Ruth Graham with her model of an incubator and Helen Reid's mathematic entry of the "World of Numbers" were the remaining fair winners.

Mrs. Leo Fuchs

Mrs. Fuchs Installed Garden Club Gov.

Mrs. Leo Fuchs was installed District V Governor of Texas Garden Clubs Inc. at the districts spring meeting in the Waco Council Garden Center Wednesday.

Active in Garden Club work for more than 10 years, Mrs. Fuchs was a charter member of the Civic Garden Club which organized in Cameron in 1949 and federated in 1950. She also played an active roll in starting and advising the newly organized Fleur-de-lis Garden Club.

Mrs. Fuchs served the Civic Club as president for two terms and is now completing a year as vice president. Through her work as publicity chairman the local Civic Garden Club was awarded a state honor for scrapbooks in 1959.

She has been a nationally accredited flower show judge for 6 years an accomplishment which required three years of study and was named state chairman for the National Gardener, a publication for accredited judges.

Governorship of District V will require many hours of devoted work for Mrs. Fuchs. The central Texas district extends through Austin, College Station, Hillsboro, Marlin and Lampasas. Governor for the past two years has been Mrs. Cecil Biggs of Temple.

In addition to her garden club work Mrs. Fuchs shares an active life with her family including her husband, two married sons, Monroe and Alton and 5 small grandchildren. She is an active partner in the family business, Ideal Hatchery and is a member of the Buckholts Lutheran Church.

Cameron Garden Club members attending the installation Wednesday were Mesdames Alvin Dusek, O. G. Tumlinson, W. R. Newton Sr., R. G. Grabein, W. E. Obermiller, John Ryan, Alton Fuchs and Monroe Fuchs.

Vocations Discussed At Ladies Society

In recognition of vocation month, a program on religious vocations was prepared by the sisters of St. Edwards Hospital when the St. Monica's Ladies Society met Tuesday night at the Parish Hall.

A film was shown depicting the life of a girl preparing for the sisterhood at the Convent of the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word in Houston. Narriation was by Sister Jude.

The rewards of life dedicated to the service of God was the theme of a talk presented by Sister Joseph.

During the business session the standing committees gave reports on the program of the development of this new club.

Griffin Chappell Community To Enter Contest

The Griffin Chappell Community, held its regular community improvement meeting on Tuesday night, with Frank Nelson, Chairman, presiding.

The purpose was to summarize and evaluate the years work, with each family present making a report. The Record Book will be compiled during the last week in March and entered in State competition against other Texas Rural Communities. The Community Improvement Program is sponsored by the Electric Utility Companies of Texas in cooperation with the Texas Extension Service.

Last year the Griffin Chappell Community won a $100 cash prize in State competition and Nelson indicated that a large number of farm and home improvements have been accomplished this year.

At the meeting, E. K Shaw, and Miss V. R. Pittman, Local Extension Agent gave counsel and assistance on compiling the completed reports and suggestions for future development of the program.

During 1961, adult educational training meetings will be conducted to the latest findings and interpretations on managing the farm and home. To accomplish this, colored slides, movies, tours, lectures and discussions will be given, under the auspicies of the Extension Office.

Scout, Science Shows Big Hits . . .

Two events for the youth of Cameron and Milam County vicinity showed outstanding examples of how youngsters like to excell.

We cite the Scout-O-Rama held Saturday at the Cameron Armory and the YHS Science Fair earlier last week at Yoe Gymnasium.

Officials of both events termed participation, both in attendance and performance, excellent. Large crowds visited the many exhibits at both shows.

The Scout-O-Rama with some 10 Tejas District towns and about 15 Cub, Explorer and Boy Scout troops participating was an array of colorful displays, Indian dances and Scouting projects. Hundreds of parents and visitors from the two-county district attended the show.

And 136 students from junior and senior high on Yoe Campus filled Yoe Gymnasium with a wide range of scientific and mathematical projects. Of the winners that went on to competition in Austin, several returned home with places in the state judging.

The leadership provided the youngsters in these projects was well planned and well executed. The youths' response was in kind, worthy of the interest and support the public gave them.

We would shout a hearty "Hurrah!" for a job more than well done. It is pulse quickening to see exhibits and showings of this scope become resounding successes.

Peace Corps Organized . . .

The Administration's plans for a Peace Corps is capturing the imagination of people around the country.

Goal of the Corps is to concentrate on education including: practical nursing, public health, sanitation, farming, agricultural extension work and teaching methods.

There will be four months of training in this country in the culture and customs of the nations visited by various Corps workers and refresher courses in subjects such as American philosophy, government, economics and foreign language training, wire reports note.

This program seems to be an American counter to the Russian system of field workers where both Communist and Western systems are vying for attention. It is probably a counter to the criticism leveled at American diplomacy in the book, "Ugly American", which gained wide credance about two years ago.

The pitfalls of such a program have already been identified: possibility of the program becoming a "glorified joyride" and sending youth where experience in diplomacy should prevail.

Assuming proper administration of the program, these difficulties can be avoided.

If American diplomacy had held its own, particularly in the underdeveloped countries vulnerable to communism, the Peace Corps may not have been justified.

In view of Russian cultural and economic missions, however, the direct rebuttle of like peaceful efforts could be a deterrent to further weakening of young nations.

A leading danger to both powers' using this approach is the constant reminder that the USSR and the U. S. are vying in every arena. But, in truth, the underdeveloped countries will be inclined to lean one way or another for help.

If young professionals in the various fields of education, at no salary but dedication, can go into these nations fast shifting into a neutralist bloc, they can be of service. If they presume the work easily accomplished, it will fall short of possible success.

Diplomacy has so changed that such "grass roots" experiments are worthy of consideration. Perhaps the incalculable value of fresh dedication has found its testing ground.

State Votes To Retire Deficit

Ed Page . . . . Dateline 2-36

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — After hours of fiercely critical debate, the House voted by a surprising 149-to-1 to attack the state's fiscal problems by working first to retire the deficit as an emergency matter.

This is the approach advocated by Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker of the House James Turman. Several who spoke against the deficit - retiring resolution voted for it.

Agreeing to retire the deficit, however, is not the same as agreeing on how to do it. Some new measures, big and broad, have been introduced.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola has submitted an omnibus tax measure which he says will bring in $293,000,000 over a two-year period. It is backed by Governor Daniel.

Hinson's bill includes levies on natural gas pipelines, power-driven objects and parts, utilities, stock transfers, jewelry and watches, construction materials, soft drinks, beer, wine, liquor, restaurant meals.

According to the governor's office, the bill would provide revenue for an $800 a year teacher pay raise and other spending but is not aimed at wiping out the deficit.

Reps. John Allen of Longivew and Forrest A. Harding of San Angelo are proposing an even bigger one. It is a 2 per cent general sales tax to raise an estimated $317,000,000.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas has introduced, as promised, his "Texas broad - based excise tax."

It is not called a sales tax, but, in the language of the bill, imposes "upon each separate sale at retail of tangible personal property within this state an excise tax of 2 per cent." It has a long-list of exemptions, including some already - taxed items.

CO-OP BILL KILLED

REA electric co - op hopes for more city privileges were tumbled by a 77-to-64 House vote.

Several years ago the Legislature passed a law authorizing co-ops to continue to serve the same customers when a co-op area is annexed by a city. This year a co - ops sought permission to add new customers to existing lines in annexed areas.

Opponents charged that this would put a government - subsidized operation in competition with private enterprise. Spokesmen for private utilities declared they have to pay 27.4 per cent of their income in taxes compared to 1.6 per cent for co - ops.

Co - op leaders say that, after taking electricity to areas the private companies wouldn't serve, they are now in a life - or - death struggle.

ANNEXING CURB PASSED

No longer would Texas cities be able to reach out and annex "all out of doors.' under a bill passed 139 - to - 5 by House.

It provides that cities would be encircled by a zone in which they would have control of building and sanitation codes, but would not have taxing powers. A portion of this zone could be annexed each year.

Also cities would be required to get city utilities to an annexed area within three years.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Sage Misses Week's Newspapers, But Finds Cold War About Same

Dear editar:

Every morning the first thing I want to do is get hold of a newspaper and find out what's going on, who won the cold war the day before, have they solved the farm problem, and things like that.

Well, something happened to my source of supply and I went for a solid week without seeing a paper or listening to a radio or looking at television.

Then I got hold of a newspaper and read it thoroughly and I have a confession to make: I can't tell any more about who's winning the cold war now than I could a week ago, and I know from personal experience they haven't solved the farm problem.

It's like accidentally tuning in a televised baseball game somewhere along in the middle of play with the audio portion of the set not working. You'd don't know what the score is, what inning it is, or who's playing.

The Congo seems to have gotten along a whole week without me knowing a thing that was going on over there, and to save my life I can't tell you what the situation is now after I've caught up with the news.

We've shot some more satellites up, they're circling the globe on schedule, but I don't feel any different than I did before they went up and there's still as much undone work on this Johnson grass farm as there was before. Reading a newspaper is important, but if you're reading it to eliminate your confusion, you're on the wrong track. I know a man who reads four papers every day and he's as confused as I am.

I'm not suggesting I could get along without newspapers, but I have found that newspapers can get along without me, even if they don't know who's winning the cold war either.

For a while, I figured newspapers ought to carry box scores every day on the cold war, but now I know why they don't. Nobody knows what the score is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

I Give You Texas

The personal side of the great leader, Robert E. Lee, is revealed in a letter which he wrote to his youngest daughter from Indianola, Texas, March 27, 1857. At that time, he was on military duty in the State. The letter says:

"I am truly sorry for the destruction of the Long Bridge" -- which Arlington and Washington. "It will be an injury to the business of many and an inconvenience to you in taking your music lessons.

"You must be a great personage now -- sixty pounds! I wish I had you here in all your ponderosity. I want to see you so much. Can you not pack up and come to the Comanche country? I would get you such a fine cat you would never look at 'Tom' again.

"Did I tell you Jim Nooks, Mrs. Waite's cat, was dead? He died of apoplexy. I foretold his end. Coffee and cream for breakfast, pound cake for lunch, trutle and oysters for dinner, buttered toast for tea and Mexican rats, taken raw for supper. He grew enormously and ended in a spasm. His beauty could not save him.

"I saw in San Antonio a cat dressed up for company: He had two holes bored in each ear, and in each were two bows of pink and blue ribbon. His round face, set in pink and blue, looked like a big owl in a full blooming ivy bush. He was snow white and wore the golden fetters of his inamorata around his neck in the form of a collar. His tail and feet were tipped with black and his eyes of green were truly catlike. But I 'saw cats as is cats' in Sarassa, while the stage was changing mules. I stepped around to see Mr. and Mrs. Monod, a French couple with whom I had passed the night when I landed in Texas in 1846, to join General Wool's army. Mr. Monod received me with all the shrugs of his nation and the entrance of madame was foreshadowed by the coming in of her stately cats, with visages grave and tils erect, who proceeded surrounded and followed her. Her present favorite. Sodoiska, a large mottled gray, was a magnificent creature and in her train she pointed out Aglai, her favorite eleven years ago when I first visited her. They are of French breed and education and when the claret and water was poured out for my refreshment they jumped on the table for a sit-to."

House Approves New Feed Bill

By Cong. W. R. Poage

Suddenly it is spring in Washington -- the flowers are showing and the trees are budding. Just as suddenly, the House has burst into full scale Floor action. This last week we have had more roll calls than in the entire previous two months.

Last night the House passed the Feed Grains Bill after three days of debate. The Senate is expected to pass its version of the bill later this afternoon. We hope to go to Conference over the weekend, and will possibly have a bill on the President's desk before this reaches you.

This is the first test of the President's farm policy. As I have previously reported, it is strictly voluntary program. No one is required to do anything. Any farmer who wants to plant his entire farm in feed grains can do so and there is no penalty. The non - cooperating farmer can still sell all he produces into the market. Section 3 of the bill even keeps the Secretary from selling surplus grain into the market below the present price. The rights of the non - cooperator are fully protected, but on the other hand, we take care to see that a man cannot plant more grain than is needed and still get the advantage of a government - support price.

The bill gives the cooperator (the farmer who takes part of his feed grain land out of production) a payment -- most of which will be in grain from existing surpluses, and assures him of a reasonably good loan on what he produces. If we were to let the market price rise to just under the loan, the non - cooperators would sell all their grain at a good profit because of their neighbor's reduction. Not only would this be unfair; it would encourage overplanting on the part of non - cooperators and would thereby reduce the effectiveness of the program. It must always be remembered that the basic purpose of this program is to reduce the production of unneeded feed grain.

City people must realize that they have a big stake in cutting down the great and unnecessary expense of storing unneeded grain. I was encouraged to find that most City Democrats voted for the bill.

We are receiving a very heavy volume of mail. It would help us and help the writer if everyone would put his name and address on his letter. We simply cannot always keep envelopes with letters.

Reportable Diseases

Reportable diseases in Milam County for the week ending March 11, 1961 according to Dr. T. E. Crump, acting director of the Milam County Health Department were 13 strep throat, one measles, three chickenpox, one gonorrhea and one tuberculosis.

The 36th annual Meeting of the Texas Public Health Association was held in Fort Worth, March 5-8 Attending from the local health department were Mrs. Mildred Wheeler - Nursing Section, D. S. Wimberly - Sanitation Section, and Mrs. Edwin Adams, clerical Section.

To Seal Canned Milk

Campers often would like to reseal the can of condensed milk used as coffee cream. To do so, cut off the lable, dab with milk, and slap over the openings. When dry, the can is tightly sealed.

HORSTMANN BROTHERS

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Did you ever stop to realize that sound plays an important role in fishing?

Experts will tell you that noise will spook fish. That's generally true.

But there are sounds that will attract fish. In fact these fish-attracting sounds are the basis for many of the artificial lures in use today.

Take the popping bug as an example. When you twitch the rod tip, the bug makes a distinct "plop." And that "plop" is a pretty good imitation of a black bass sucking in a choice tidbit of the surface.

The purpose of the bug's "plop" is to create the impression that fish are feeding. It's to stir those sleeping mossbacks into action. And when properly used the plopping bug will do just that.

The plopping cork or top water chuggers serve the same purpose that of attracting fish.

Since water is many times denser than air it is a good conductor of sound. A sound very faint to a human's ear will carry a long way in water. Actually fish don't hear sounds. They feel the sound by the vibrations set up in the water.

Lures with little spinners fore or aft are designed with sound in mind. When retrieved through the water, the rapid rotating spinners send out viberations that attract fish.

Some of the old-time market fishermen have a unique way of "calling fish," if it can be termed that. Occasionally they will slap the surface of the water with a long cane pole. They tell me that the noise made by the slap is very similar to that made by a fish swatting the water with its tail.

It has been proved that certain fish will "home in" on the sound of a boat propeller. This is supposed to be true in the case of many salt water surface feeders and migratory fish. Obviously prop noises don't spook these fish because trolling is the most popular way of catching them.

Several years ago one of the nation's leading outboard motor makers conducted some sound tests with fish in Florida. Outboard motors of various sizes were run in huge aquarium tanks. What happened?

Some fish such as speckled trout and redfish appeared disturbed by the noise and sought cover at the bottom of the tanks. Other fish actually came up to investigate the sound. It was recorded on several occasions that barracuda and kingfish even took coutious nips at the whirling propeller blades.

The more action a lure has the more sound viberations it sends out in the water.

Several lure companies today are making lures that wiggle so vigorously when retrieved that the angler can feel the viberations on the rod tip. And I might point out that these lures catch a lot of fish.

If you're curious about sound and fish, try these expirments.

Ease up to a pool of clear water with a handful of small pebbles. Start flipping the pebbles into the water one at a time. If there are panfish around, the "plop" sound made by the pebbles striking the water will soon attract them. Every time a pebble hits the water they will dart toward it — a few might even try a nibble at the pebble.

If you have a home aquarium, you might try some experiments with your own guppies mollies, tetras, or whatever you have in the tank.

Genreally speaking you will find the following to be true.

Sudden and hard noises or a sharp tap against the tank will cause the fish to spook. Usually they will school up and head for cover at the bottom of the tank.

A gentle but constant vibration sent through the tank will at first cause the fish to become apprehensive. But in a short time you'll notice they will start moving toward the source of the vibration or sound.

Sound has become so important in fishing that several companies now make "fish callers." These callers are operated by batteries and emit a faint ticking sound.

If you have doubts about the faint ticking carring any distance in the water, try this: Turn in the fish caller and submerge it at one end of a swimming pool. Then go to the other end and stick your head under water. The "tick-tick-tick" will be quite audible.

There are of course, sounds that will spook fish. A clap of thunder or the loud banging on the bottom of a boat will quickly put down a school of fish.

An outboard motor seems to have little effect on small fish except when used in very shallow water. If you must run your motor in shallow water, run it as slow as possible.

Now you're probably wondering what the dividing line is between shallow and deep water. Like everything else. it's relative. But for all practical purposes consider water to be shallow if it is less than six foot in depth.

Yes sir. There's more to fishing than just bating the hook and dropping it into the water. The are of luring piscatorial beauties is becoming more scientific every day.

Area Teachers Take Graduate Study In Guidance, Counseling

Cameron Schools Superintendent Earl Knebel reports that 35 teachers from Cameron and surrounding schools are enrolled in the graduate guidance and counseling course taught by E. V. Walton, head of the Agricultural Education Department, Texas A & M College and Dr. J. R. Jackson, associate professor.

Dr. Knebel said the leadership in guidance and counseling comes at a critical time since Texas public schools must meet accreditation standards in guidance and counseling next year.

The program was originally developed for teachers of vocational agriculture, but other school personnel began to enroll and develop guidance and counseling programs along the lines suggested for teachers of vocational agriculture.

The agriculture education Department at A & M is nationally recognized for work in the field of guidance and counseling and is given credit for the nationwide trend toward including guidance and counseling in the vocational agricultural programs.

Jenness Receives Sales Citation At Houston Fete

Clifton B. Jenness of Hefley - Stedman Motor Company, Cameron, will be presented Ford Motor Company's 300 - 500 Club award March 11 at a banquet at the Rice Hotel, Houston, honoring high - ranking Ford dealership car and truck salesmen of 1960 in the Houston Ford sales district.

R. P. Harman, district sales manager, said 300 - 500 Club membership awards are presented for excellent retail sales performance. The Ford 300 - 500 Club was founded in 1950 to recognize the performance of outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country.

Hardman added that the average 300 - 500 Club member sold nearly $400,000 worth of automotive merchandise in qualifying for the national honors.

Patch Boots on Inside

Boot and wader patches are unsightly when applied to the outside. So why not patch your footgear from the inside?

Then the patches are invisible from the outside. And they wear 50 per cent longer.

Select Fire Stones With Care

Don't ring a fire, or build a fireplace, with limestone, or other porous rock. Porous stones are liable to explode when overheated.

Marine Recruiter Comes To Cameron

"A specialist organization that prides itself on its training program," commented Marine Recruiting Sergeant Barrow upon his arrival here. "The Marines have 140 schools that train men for 470 specialist jobs," he said.

Sgt. Barrow, a mechanic by specialty will be in Cameron every third Thursday from 10 to 2 p.m. at the Post Office He can be contacted anytime at his office in Austin where he is located in the Federal Court House.

Hound Dog Philosophy

Don't expect your hound dog to obey your commands as well as a bird dog does.

Hounds are more independent. You hunt with them—they don't hunt with you.

So, don't ruin a good dog by too much punishment. Just be glad your dog is a good one.

Chevy gentles rough roads with a Jet-smooth ride

Presto! Chevrolet changes old roads to new! Does it with a ride so smooth, handling so sure and going so sweet that it's almost magic.

Chevy owes its Jet-smooth ride to some mighty ingenious engineering . . . things like Full Coil suspension, precision balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning and a superlatively insulated Body by Fisher. Nor does Chevy's ingenuity stop with ride. Take performance, for instance. You've a choice of 24 power teams ranging all the way up to the mighty 348-cubic-inch Turbo-Thrust V8's* with shift-free Turboglide transmission.*

More ingenuity: When you check Jet-smooth Chevy prices with your dealer you'll discover that nothing so easy riding was ever so easy to own.
